18 Girls Held After Riot at Industrial School

Police Also Hunt for Three Who Escaped In Vancouver

Furniture Smashed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Eighteen juvenile girls involved in a riot at the Girls' Industrial School here when furniture and windows were smashed and fire hoses turned on, were held by city police today and three others who escaped are being sought. Seventeen of the girls, ranging in age from 14 to 18 years, are charged with malicious damage as a result of last night's disturbance and another is held on a charge of assault. City police authorities said juvenile authorities would deal with the girls.

Police reserves were called to the school in Vancouver's residential district late last night when the trouble broke out. A total of about 20 officers in prowler cars had to be called before the disturbance could be quelled.

The girls, screaming that their freedom was curtailed at the school, smashed windows and furniture. Others brought fire hose into play, pouring water over walls and ceilings.

Ten of the girls made their escape through broken windows before the arrival of police. Quiet was restored almost at once with arrival of officers.

Prowler cars were kept busy throughout the night, rounding up the escaped girls. Three had reached New Westminster, 12 miles east, before they were captured.

Police cars were called to the home Sunday when a woman employed there reported she had overheard several of the girls planning an escape. There was no disturbance at that time however and police now believe the girls had planned the escape for last night.

SLAYER HUNTED IN PEACE REGION

B.C. Police Comb Tupper Creek Area for Man Who Shot A. Hoover

POUCE COUPE, B.C. (CP)—British Columbia Police today sought the slayer of Al Hoover, 50, old-timer of the Beaver Lodge district of the Peace River area in Alberta, who was found shot yesterday.

Investigation throughout the region was under way, particularly in the Tupper Creek district on the British Columbia-Alberta boundary, 20 miles south of here.

Hoover was in charge of the Alf Austin Ranch. Children going to school, according to police, heard four shots in the barn and watched a man climb out of the hayloft and disappear into the bush. "They said fire broke out immediately. The barn, house, store buildings and bunkhouse were destroyed. A team of horses and some cattle were burned to death.

Neighbors rushing to investigate the fire found Hoover's body in the farmyard. There were several bullet wounds in the body.

Police today said Otto Swartz, hired man at the farm, about 18 miles from here, was missing. Hoover was well known in this part of the country.

LADY ABERDEEN DIES IN SCOTLAND

Lived in Canada From 1893 to 1898 While Husband Governor-General

ABERDEEN, Scotland (CP)—Ishbel Marchioness of Aberdeen, 82, widow of a former governor-general of Canada, died of heart disease at her home here today. She had quietly observed her birthday March 14. She had been in poor health.

LATE MARCHIONESS OF ABERDEEN

Her son, the second Marquess of Aberdeen, saw her yesterday and then left for London. News of her death was telephoned to him.

Lady Aberdeen and her husband, who died in 1934, were known as the "Darby and Joan of the peerage" because of their long, happy life together. Their married life lasted for 57 years. Lady Aberdeen was chaperone at Rideau Hall, Ottawa from 1893 to 1898.

See story of Lady Aberdeen's career on Page 7.

Reports Dynamite Stolen in Ontario

Attorney-General Silent; Veterans To Guard Plants

TORONTO (CP)—Hon. Gordon Conant, Ontario attorney-general, refused today to discuss reports that thefts of large quantities of dynamite from construction firms had aroused fears of sabotage at the generating and distributing plants of the Ontario Hydroelectric Power Commission.

The Toronto Globe and Mail this morning in a newspaper story said extensive thefts of dynamite and other explosives from construction companies and plants during the past four days had "intensified the sabotage scare in this province."

Provincial police authorities so far were "baffled" by the thefts and "are reported to be seeking the immediate co-operation of the Department of National Defence at Ottawa," the newspaper said. "These thefts are said to be directly responsible for the hurried calling up of veterans' guards and the early patrolling of some of the main operating plants of the Ontario Hydroelectric Power Commission."

"Enough dynamite was stolen, in one instance, the Globe and Mail is reliably informed, to blow the great Queenstown-Chippewa development 'clean off the map.'"

INVESTIGATION URGED

The Toronto City Council was unanimously on record today as asking the federal government to conduct a public inquiry into the operations, activities, propaganda, property, means and sources of income of Communists, Fascists and Nazi organizations operating in Canada. The decision was reached last night after two hours' discussion.

The probe, held under the Dominion Inquiries Act, should include investigations into all other organizations or groups seeking to promote or teach atheistic, subversive, anti-democratic, anti-British and un-Canadian doctrines in the Dominion, it was decided.

A Canadian Press dispatch last week-end told how Great War veterans were standing ready throughout Ontario to mount 24-hour guard over vulnerable public buildings and industrial plants, among them power developments of the Ontario Hydroelectric Power Commission, in the event of a national emergency.

The ex-servicemen were enrolled by the Veterans' Security Committee of Ontario, a voluntary organization of officials of ex-servicemen's organizations.

Menzies To Be Prime Minister Of Australia

Sharp Test for Coalition as He Takes United Party Leadership

By J. D. HOLDSWORTH
Canadian Press Correspondent
CANNBERRA, Australia—Rt. Hon. Robert Gordon Menzies Tuesday was elected leader of the United Australia Party, succeeding the late Joseph A. Lyons. The election virtually assured him the prime ministership of the Commonwealth.

It was understood that Sir Earle Page, acting prime minister, would resign tomorrow and recommend to the Governor-General, Lord Gowrie, that he ask Mr. Menzies to form a cabinet. The latter let it be known he hoped to complete the new government by Thursday.

At the same time the future of the coalition was put in doubt. Defence and national insurance are two stumbling blocks on which the administration may founder.

Parliament, not sitting when Mr. Lyons died April 7, will meet Wednesday. Mr. Menzies, who was Attorney-General, quit the cabinet March 14 over a decision to drop an old-age insurance scheme on which he had committed himself heavily to his constituents.

In the contest for leadership of the United Australia party, Mr. Menzies defeated W. M. Hughes, Minister for External Affairs and Prime Minister during the Great War, by a few votes.

The new leader is 44. He has been in federal politics for only five years, having been elected for Kooragang in 1934. Almost immediately he was appointed Attorney-General and Minister for Industry.

Prior to entering the federal field he held various ministerial posts in the state of Victoria and practised at the bar in Melbourne. He was created a privy councillor in 1937.

Mr. Menzies is a strong imperialist.

GAP SOON IN U.S. NEUTRALITY ACT

Cash-carry Clauses Will Expire April 30; New Bill Not Ready

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Key Pittman disclosed today that "cash and carry" provisions of the United States neutrality act probably would be allowed to expire April 30, despite the European crisis.

Mr. Pittman, Nevada Democrat and chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, had indicated previously the provisions might be extended for about 60 days. He said today, however, he had decided to seek enactment of a revised version of "cash and carry" principles.

Since Congress is not expected to act on any neutrality proposal this month, there apparently will be a period beginning May 1 during which the only restriction on U.S. shipping in event of a foreign war would be the embargo on exporting arms and munitions.

The expiring "cash and carry" provisions require foreign countries to pay cash for supplies and transport them in their own ships. No other sections of the law expire.

It was learned authoritatively Mr. Pittman was planning to ask Congress later to impose restrictions on U.S. trade with Japan because of her alleged violations of the nine-power treaty respecting the territorial integrity of China.

The probe, held under the Dominion Inquiries Act, should include investigations into all other organizations or groups seeking to promote or teach atheistic, subversive, anti-democratic, anti-British and un-Canadian doctrines in the Dominion, it was decided.

MOOSE JAW PROTEST ON PROPAGANDA

Prairie War Veterans Direct Attention of Ottawa To Anti-Canadianism

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—The Council of Ex-servicemen, representing every organization of returned men in Moose Jaw, is on record in a resolution calling the attention of the Dominion Government to "the constantly increasing flood of anti-Canadian and anti-British propaganda."

During the past week-end swastika emblems were pencilled on the sidewalk in front of one of the major business blocks on Main Street here. They were removed before storekeepers whose businesses are in the building and other occupants arrived for the day's labors.

The resolution was passed last night at a special meeting of ex-servicemen.

MANY QUESTIONS IN BRITISH HOUSE

Government Declared Interested in Freedom Of Holland, Denmark

LONDON (CP)—A flood of questions greeted ministers today at the reopening of the House of Commons after the Easter recess.

The Prime Minister, replying to Duncan Sandys, Conservative, said Great Britain had no specific obligations to go to the assistance of Holland, Switzerland or Denmark.

"It is not necessary for me to insist on the interest which His Majesty's government have in the preservation of their independence," he added.

STAFF TALKS

In reply to a question from Geoffrey Mander, Liberal, on the possibility of staff consultations with the countries to which guarantees have been given, Mr. Chamberlain said Britain "will maintain all the necessary contacts on military and other matters."

He declined to make a definite promise of staff talks.

While members plainly indicated their contempt, Oliver Stanley, President of the Board of Trade, solemnly read the names of the directors of two British companies which recently sold three merchant ships to Germany.

He said the government had indicated to the companies its opposition to the sale, but its wishes were disregarded. The government had no power to forbid the transaction.

The Prime Minister dropped a hint that a ministry of supply might be established when he told Mr. Graham White, Liberal, he might make a statement on this question within a few days.

There has been a campaign inside and outside Parliament in recent weeks to add a ministry of supply to the government so contracts for munitions, planes and military equipment of all sorts could be accelerated.

NO DANZIG AGREEMENT

BERLIN (AP)—Rumors that Germany and Poland had agreed on return of Danzig Free City to Germany were termed nonsense by authoritative sources. The Free City lies within the Polish customs administration but nominally is under League of Nations protection.

Numerous Fires Spread in Forests Of Washington

Smoke Covers West Part of State as Crews Fight Outbreaks

Farm Houses Burned

SEATTLE (AP)—Smoke from more than 80 brush and forest fires hung over western Washington today, as hundreds of men sought to control blazes which destroyed several buildings and endangered homes, farms and timber.

A fire between Beaver and Pine Lakes, swept out of control as the wind freshened today and raced eastward toward Fall City, 30 miles east of Seattle. Fire Marshal Leo McCombs said the town was in no immediate danger, but the fire front was only about 14 miles away.

The blaze had covered an area of four square miles since Sunday and had destroyed two farm houses and several outbuildings.

Five forest fires, covering 3,000 acres, were reported in Grays Harbor County, where timber reproduction areas were damaged. Fire reports listed three blazes in Pierce County, another near Barrington, Snohomish County, and others in scattered western Washington and Oregon sections.

GERMAN PRESS SCORES PEACE PLAN

Roosevelt Wants to Bring About Second Versailles, Says Paper

BERLIN (AP)—Front pages of the newspapers in Germany continued today to be dominated by scornful editorials rejecting President Roosevelt's peace appeal and concerned with Hitler's decision to answer it before the Reichstag.

Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, carried editorials under headlines like "The Real Aim of the Encirclement Strategists," and "They Would Like to Disarm Germany Again Just As At Versailles."

The Morgenpost said "Roosevelt wants to create a second Versailles."

The papers also gave much space to preparations for Hitler's 50th birthday on Thursday.

Maps were published of a five-mile flag-decked and pylon-lined route where Berliners could gather to see the Reich's biggest military parade in history.

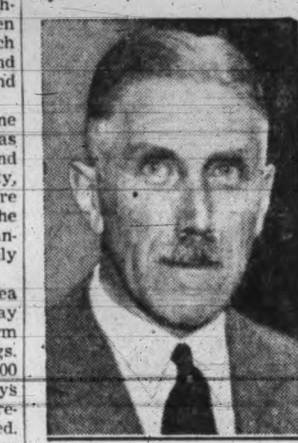

All traffic except pedestrian will be barred in an approximately three-square-mile area to permit 45,000 soldiers and tanks, artillery, armored cars and other war equipment to line up for the march past Hitler and his distinguished guests.

Counter-moves In Balkan Area

British Delay Announcing Turkey Pledge; Hitler Sends Von Papen

BERLIN (CP)—Chancellor Hitler in a surprise move tonight drew former Chancellor Franz von Papen from retirement and named him ambassador to Turkey.

FRANZ VON PAPEN

In sending Von Papen to Ankara, Hitler once again showed the depth of his drive toward the east and his determination to make every play possible to strengthen his position in southeastern Europe and southwestern Asia.

It was Von Papen, diplomat of post-war Germany, who prepared the way for Germany's absorption of Austria in March, 1938. He was Germany's last minister in Vienna.

TALKS WITH RUSSIA

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today that Great Britain was continuing conversations with Russia in order to widen the Anglo-French peace front, but added he had nothing new to report on the situation.

Reports were current as Parliament assembled after an interrupted Easter recess that the negotiations were progressing smoothly in efforts to bring the Soviet Union into the "Stop Hitler" alliance.

It had been expected Mr. Chamberlain would announce a new commitment to Turkey, but after he had spoken it was understood the Anglo-Turkish agreement would be held up until results of the Russian conversations were known.

Involved in the discussions with Russia, it was said, were Roumanian objections to allowing Russian troops to cross Roumanian territory.

British M.P.'s Cheer Roosevelt

LONDON (CP)—President Roosevelt's peace plea to Premier Mussolini and Chancellor Hitler was welcomed by the British Government with great satisfaction. Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today.

The Prime Minister made only a passing reference to the President's dramatic intervention in the tangled affairs of Europe, but it was greeted with prolonged cheers from every corner of the House.

In a brief statement on foreign affairs Mr. Chamberlain declared "I should like to take this opportunity of informing the House of the great satisfaction with which His Majesty's government have welcomed the recent initiative by the President of the United States."

BERLIN (AP)—A ban on photographs of troops or equipment during the Hitler birthday celebration Thursday was taken today to indicate that a surprise might be in store for the foreign military attaches who will be guests at the military review which is part of the program.

During a review when Regent Nicholas Horthy of Hungary visited here last August, the surprise was a group of 16-inch howitzers, the biggest ever seen in Germany.

Private airplanes were forbidden to fly over Berlin between 7 p.m. Wednesday and 8 p.m. Thursday and warning was given that anti-aircraft guns would be on guard. Commercial liners will be able to approach Templehof airport only from the south.

U.S. Not Mediator, Say Italians

ROME (AP)—No formal Italian reply has so far been made to President Roosevelt, but the comment in Premier Mussolini's Milan newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia, was said in newspaper circles to represent Il Duce's views, if not written by Mussolini himself, on the President's proposal of nonaggression pledges.

New French Defence Decrees

PARIS (AP)—Premier Edouard Daladier told his Cabinet today the continuing seriousness of the international situation made it necessary for France to take further steps to strengthen her defences.

He was understood to have informed his colleagues that negotiations for an Anglo-Russian defence alliance to bolster guarantees given by France and Great Britain to Poland, Roumania and Greece were "progressing satisfactorily." Indications in foreign ministry circles were that a complete agreement would be reached within the next day or so.

No Big War, Says Hoover

MARSHFIELD, Ore. (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover, who has been tramping the Oregon woods on a fishing jaunt since Saturday, told an interviewer today he saw no immediate prospect of a general European war.

"Small wars we shall always have, but I think we are going to miss a general conflict," he said.

Portugal Upholds Links With Britain

PARIS (CP-Havas)—Généveuve Tabouis, foreign affairs writer of L'Oeuvre, Radical-Socialist, today said Chancellor Hitler has tried to get Portugal to join the anti-comintern pact.

Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, Portuguese premier, she said, told Hitler that Portugal was energetically combating communism, but at the same time remained faithful to the Anglo-Portuguese alliance.

British and French Map Defences In Mediterranean

Reports Say Royal Navy Patrols East, Leaving French West

Suggestions to Soviet

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON—The general staffs of Great Britain and France have agreed to a division of the Mediterranean in wartime. It was reported on high authority tonight.

The British navy would patrol the eastern end of the Mediterranean, leaving French warships to look after the western, or Gibraltar, section.

This division of authority might account for the concentration of French warships at Gibraltar which started soon after Berlin announced that part of the German navy would hold manoeuvres off the Spanish coast.

Meanwhile it is understood Britain and France have suggested to Moscow that Russia enter the anti-aggression front on an "if, as and when" basis.

To surmount Polish and Roumanian scruples over Russian military assistance, it is reported the Soviets have been asked to make a unilateral declaration that they will put all their military resources at the disposal of Poland, Roumania, Greece and Turkey if, as and when any of them should request assistance in beating back an outside aggressor.

Britain and France have given pledges to Poland, Roumania and Greece that they will go to their assistance automatically if any one of them uses its armed forces to resist aggression.

ON REQUEST
If Russia accepts the Anglo-French suggestion her contribution, for instance, to Poland, would be conditional on Poland requesting assistance in a particular manner.

Poland might request only planes and pilots or supplies of munitions. This would banish Polish fears she might have trouble clearing a big Russian army out of her territory after the war ended.

Meanwhile there was no indication when the Anglo-French pledges to Turkey will be announced. London and Paris regard Turkey as distinctly at their side against German and Italian aggression in the Balkans and they apparently are not in any particular hurry to give through the formality of issuing a guarantee. An announcement may be made later in the week or delayed for another few days.

COMOX NURSES' STRIKE SETTLED

Workers Return to Posts in Hospital On New Terms

COMOX, B.C. (CP)—The strike of nine nurses who walked off duty at St. Joseph's Hospital here April 12, leaving only a skeleton staff to care for 50 patients, ended today when they returned to duty under a new working agreement.

A delegation of the striking nurses was received by the advisory board of the hospital last night and agreed to meet all the nurses' demands with the exception of two weeks' sick leave with pay. The strikers, it was agreed, would be re-employed without discrimination.

The nurses had asked for an eight-hour day, six-day week, two weeks' vacation with pay and two weeks' sick leave with pay. Previously their hours on duty ranged up to 12 or more hours daily without provision for a day off or vacation.

Three nurses who did not join the strike, two orderlies and sisters of the 70-bed hospital, operated by the Sisters of St. Joseph, cared for the 50-odd patients after the walkout until additional nurses came from Victoria and Vancouver. Members of women's organizations in the district and volunteer help also filled the breach.

It was expected nurses who came to take the places of the strikers would return to their own hospital at Victoria and Vancouver today.

Sister Walberga, sister superior at the hospital, said "we are returning to normal," but declined to reveal the details of the settlement. She promised a statement later.

USE OF WATER AT NANAIMO CURTAILED

NANAIMO (CP)—Citizens of Nanaimo were warned by the city council last night to curtail the use of water pending completion of work on the pipeline. Enforcement of sprinkling regulations was the alternative, the council said.

Other business by the council included appointment of Mayor V. B. Harrison to welcome H.M.S. Orion when the vessel arrives here for a four-day visit June 12, and an order to police to check the sale of unperfected milk.

Request of the United Mine Workers for a civic holiday on International Labor Day, May 1, was laid over for a week.

Liquor Fine Is Increased

Judgments Delivered By Court of Appeal Yesterday

A County Court judge sitting on an appeal from police court conviction under the Liquor Act cannot reduce sentence below the minimum prescribed by statute, according to the finding of the Court of Appeal, as announced in the judgment of the Chief Justice yesterday afternoon in the appeal of the Crown against Wing Kee.

Wing Kee was convicted at Duncan of having liquor for sale and fined the minimum $300. Judge Harper, sitting on the appeal in County Court reduced the fine to $100, believing a recent amendment to existing legislation permitted that course. No such amendment existed, the Court of Appeal held as it allowed the Crown's appeal to restore the fine to its original amount.

With Mr. Justice McQuarrie dissenting, the court allowed the appeal of the B.C. Electric Railway Company Limited against a Vancouver judgment awarding Victoria Thompson, an infant, and Elizabeth Thompson $6,788 for injuries sustained by the child when struck by an interurban train at Vancouver on March 31, 1938. The court found the evidence did not support the contention of negligence on the part of the motorman.

Judgment in the civil action of James Inch vs. Monahawk Service in which Inch was awarded $262 of a $788 wage claim, was upheld. The Crown's appeal against a judgment freeing H. L. Woods, a truck operator running between Hope and Vancouver of the necessity of purchasing a Vancouver license, was sustained. The ruling requires Woods to secure a Vancouver as well as a provincial license. Mr. Justice O'Halloran dissented.

The court dismissed the appeal in the case of Rex vs. Bell. The latter was convicted on a charge of living off the earnings of prostitution. Conviction was upheld.

The appeal of McAllister against the ruling which failed him under the Board of Examiners under the Barbering Act, was allowed and a new trial ordered, the court holding the purpose of the act had been frustrated.

MORE INTEREST IN GOLD DREDGING

Mines Department Reports Possibilities of New Developments

California interests are making a keen search for gold dredging and drag-line properties in the Cariboo, according to the annual report of Douglas Lay, engineer in charge of the northeastern B.C. mining district. The report was issued today by the Department of Mines.

He says there is every likelihood the possibilities in connection with such enterprises will be closely investigated.

A new type of drag-line plant, characterized by mobility, and a digging unit separate from the recovery unit, was tried out in the Cariboo last year. It was evolved in California for use in areas where the yardage is not sufficient to justify dredging operations.

Mr. Lay notes a new development of interest is a cinnabar property at Pinchi Lake, near Fort St. James. This is the first recorded occurrence of the mineral in place in the northeastern part of the province.

Campbell River Logger Killed

Edward William Beachey, logger employed at the Elk River Timber Company at Campbell River, was killed this morning when a log slipped from the logging tongs and crushed him, according to provincial police.

He was 30 years of age and is survived by his widow, living at Campbell River. An inquest will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2, at Campbell River.

Bren Outlays Reported

OTTAWA (CP)—Of $688,881 spent, exclusive of duty and taxes, on machinery for the John Inglis Co. plant to make Bren guns, all but $55,752 was spent outside Canada, the Commons public accounts committee was informed today. A government announcement that the trip be postponed again and "has expressed the hope he may be enabled to pay a visit to northern Ireland on his return from Australia."

STRIKING STUDENTS WARNED BY REEVE

200 Still Absent From Maple Ridge High Schools

PORT HANEY, B.C. (CP)—A majority of Maple Ridge municipality high school students maintained their strike from classes today in a demand for a new school building and Reeve Solomon Mussalem said they might be threatened with expulsion if they did not return to school soon.

The reeve said he had conferred with leaders of the 250 students who walked from Maple Ridge and McLean high schools yesterday and believed they would return to school tomorrow.

"If they decide to maintain their strike however we will take action and possibly expel those who do not come to school," he added.

Most of the parents of the children, who struck in protest of voters' failure to sanction erection of a new junior-senior high school at a plebiscite held last April 8, are against the strike, Mr. Mussalem said. Of the 250 who walked from classrooms yesterday, 200 are still on strike.

The reeve blamed failure of voters to ratify erection of a new school on the new provincial curriculum which stipulates that all new high schools must be equipped with a gymnasium and a home economics department.

POOR FAMILY FINDS WELL-FILLED WALLET

Montreal Mother Keeps $62 Out of Total of $1,293 To Pay for Food

MONTREAL (CP)—Desirous of extending his thanks, a man who lost $1,293 on a street, sought today to learn identity of a mother and son who returned it—all but $62 because "we owe so much back rent and need money for food."

Jack Ross said he lost the money in a black leather envelope and that later it turned up in the mail box at his office. As he was counting the bills yesterday the telephone rang and a woman told him:

"I know you Mr. Ross. My son found your money behind the Jacobs Building in central Montreal. You'll find the amount $62 short when you count it over. We took it. We had to. We owe so much back rent and we need money for food."

Ross said the woman hung up before he could ask her name.

KENT POSTPONES TRIP TO IRELAND

BELFAST (AP)—The Duke and Duchess of Kent for the second time postponed their trip to northern Ireland yesterday after the Belfast government had advised "it would be preferable if the projected visit of their Royal Highnesses did not take place during the present year."

The cancellation was attributed unofficially today to threats of the outlawed Irish Republican Army charged with carrying out a campaign of bomb terrorism in England.

The bombings, which started last December, caused the Duke and Duchess to postpone their trip originally February 6.

A government announcement that the trip be postponed again and "has expressed the hope he may be enabled to pay a visit to northern Ireland on his return from Australia."

The Duke, youngest brother of the King, will go to Australia in November as Governor-General.

Banker Finds Better Outlook

Allan E. Arscott Says British Columbia Is Driving Ahead in Trade

"Outlook for the industries of British Columbia has the appearance of being brighter than a year ago, not only as regards the world market for its products, but also on account of the comparatively favorable prospects in the prairie provinces at the beginning of a new crop season," said Allan E. Arscott, general manager, Canadian Bank of Commerce, Toronto, at the Empress Hotel today.

Mr. Arscott, who has been inspecting the bank's branches in the United States and is now on his way back to Toronto from southern California, is accompanied by N. J. McKinnon, bank inspector at Toronto, and Mayne D. Hamilton, superintendent for British Columbia.

ALLAN E. ARSCOTT

Today he is conferring with J. W. Ruggles, manager of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and S. K. Campbell, who is here to succeed Mr. Ruggles on his retirement.

"I find that logging in British Columbia has had a better winter and employment in logging camps is higher than at the beginning of last year," continued Mr. Arscott.

"The strenuous efforts made by Canadian exporters of lumber, especially those in B.C., during recent years not only offset the exceptional difficulties due to the contraction of the American market as a result of higher duties imposed during the depression, but also laid the foundation for an extension on a much broader basis of Canada's external trade. It was certainly this enterprise which accounted largely for the marked revival of the lumber industry itself."

It is not only in forestry that B.C. has made impressive gains, Mr. Arscott said.

As one of the major mining areas of this continent, British Columbia, he pointed out, now has an annual production value of approximately $70,000,000 in minerals, or about three times that of seven years ago.

"The recent opening of the Zeballos area has increased the interest which eastern Canada has for a long time taken in British Columbia mining," the banker said.

"Among developments in other B.C. industries, I may mention that the large supplies of apples and of salmon on hand in 1938 have been moving in steady volume and I understand that surplus stocks are being satisfactorily liquidated."

"By and large, Canadian business has withstood creditably the strain of European political events, from which no country is now immune," said Mr. Arscott. "Certain encouraging factors have developed which under more normal world conditions would bear considerable weight. I refer particularly to the better outlook for this year's crops on the prairies resulting from the improvement in autumn and winter moisture conditions, to the better prospects of the livestock industry, and to the increase, slight as yet, in construction."

"Two factors are, however, operating against the return to confidence which is the prerequisite of permanent improvement. They are the hesitancy on the part of investors, which is the natural result of European political developments on the one hand, and of a widespread disregard in contractual obligations on the other."

"Not infrequently," proceeded Mr. Arscott, "we hear criticisms of the banks on the grounds that they are making no effort to help in meeting the requirements of industry and individuals, but on the contrary are purposely withholding credit."

"On this score I should like to emphasize that the banks are doing everything possible to help and encourage business, but if those who are engaged in industry do not require credit to expand their operations, or do not feel that the future outlook is

DETERRENT FACTORS

"Two factors are, however, operating against the return to confidence which is the prerequisite of permanent improvement. They are the hesitancy on the part of investors, which is the natural result of European political developments on the one hand, and of a widespread disregard in contractual obligations on the other."

"Not infrequently," proceeded Mr. Arscott, "we hear criticisms of the banks on the grounds that they are making no effort to help in meeting the requirements of industry and individuals, but on the contrary are purposely withholding credit."

"On this score I should like to emphasize that the banks are doing everything possible to help and encourage business, but if those who are engaged in industry do not require credit to expand their operations, or do not feel that the future outlook is sufficiently clear to encourage them to borrow, the banks cannot force the situation. This is not a case of whether the chicken or the egg comes first.

The need to borrow must first prevail. The real difficulty at the moment, owing to world conditions, is that there is a lack of confidence as to what might happen before the international situation returns to normalcy, and this is causing industry and investors generally to be hesitant about expanding their operations, with the result that a healthy demand for loans for productive purposes has not occurred. Meanwhile, until business again becomes more aggressive, government spending has had to come in to take up the slack to relieve the unemployment situation, but I am of the opinion that business has been adjusted to a sound footing and with the return of confidence will show a quick-upturn."

SURPRISE GASOLINE TAX IN QUEBEC

Public Not Prepared For Government's 2-Cent Boost to 8 Cents

QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec government will seek shortly the authority to make legal the surprise increase of 2 cents per gallon in the gasoline tax, put into effect today.

Announcement the tax was boosted to 8 cents was made in Montreal by Philippe Giguère, director of provincial gasoline services, who advised all distributors to start collecting the new tax at one minute past midnight.

Questioned by reporters, Premier Duplessis made no denial of the new tax. But he told them no increase would be made without proper legislative authority. It was not until newspapermen had checked and rechecked to learn if a misdeed had been made that the Premier explained the surprise action had been taken to prevent stocking up of gasoline at the old tax rate of 6 cents a gallon.

Italian newspapers said the Hungarian view was that the peace proposed by Mr. Roosevelt was not peace with justice, but merely a plan to continue existing "injustices."

Diplomatic circles thought it likely Hungary might be a partner in the next move of the axis powers.

They pointed out Hungary gave Germany support while the Nazis recently were negotiating their new trade agreement with Roumania—Hungary massing almost 500,000 soldiers on the Roumanian frontier.

COURT TO RULE IF CAPONE FREE

Los Angeles Judge Hears Argument Sentence Ended

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Al Capone may win his freedom in four weeks.

Federal Judge Harry Holtzer took under submission today a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in which Capone's Chicago lawyer, Abraham Teitelbaum, contends his 11-year sentence for income tax evasion began in Chicago October 24, 1931, and with allowances for good behavior, he should have been released March 12.

Maurice Norcor, deputy United States attorney, argued the former Chicago gangster's term did not begin until he was placed in the Atlanta federal prison May 4, 1932, and that he is not entitled to freedom until November 19.

Judge Holtzer is scheduled to rule on the petition this week.

TROOPS WATCHED NEAR GIBRALTAR

Italian-German-Spanish Moves Cause Growing Anxiety in France

PARIS (AP)—French fears over what might happen in the Mediterranean were widely reflected in the press today. Some commentators said Italian, German and Spanish troops and naval and technical dispositions plainly were preparing for a combined assault on Gibraltar.

PARIS (CP)—Havas, writing in L'Ouvrier today, said British authorities had learned of plans for an attack on Gibraltar should war break out. The plans include use of planes and submarines against the British and French fleets, she stated, with Italian troop concentrations to be continued in the hinterland of Gibraltar.

Detachments of German specialists were said in London reports quoted by the writer to have left for Spain last Saturday and Sunday. They were stated to have included 700 heavy artillerymen, 650 mine-laying technicians, 600 engineers, 300 draftsmen, 1,800 machine gunners and 200 pilots and observers.

Eclipse To Be Visible Here

NEW YORK (AP)—A partial eclipse of the sun will be visible in Canada and the northern United States tomorrow forenoon. At no point will more than half of the sun be covered by the moon, so dark glasses probably will be necessary to see the eclipse.

On the Pacific Coast about half the sun will be covered by the moon, it is predicted. Popular astronomy gives the time at 6:45 to 9:45 Pacific time.

The full extent of the eclipse will be reached about 8:45 Victoria time.

School Classes Held in Churches

CLOVERDALE, B.C. (CP)—With 175 of Surrey Municipality's 2,469 schoolchildren going to classes in churches, halls and other buildings, school trustees called a meeting for tonight to discuss the acute overcrowding problem.

Voters at a plebiscite last Saturday turned down a by-law under which new schools would have been constructed, despite the fact the municipality has only one permanent school building.

HUNGARIANS CONFER IN ROME

Premier and Foreign Minister Hear Duce Urge Claims of Axis

ROME (AP)—Premier Mussolini sought today to draw Hungary closer to the Rome-Berlin axis.

Premier Paul Telyek and Foreign Minister Stephen Csaky of Hungary arrived here and were met at the station by Premier Mussolini, Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister and Achille Starace, secretary of the Fascist Party.

It was expected President Roosevelt's proposal for a German and Italian peace pledge and the situation it had created in Europe would be one of the subjects which Mussolini and Count Ciano would discuss with Hungarian statesmen on their state visit.

The Fascist press cited unfavorable Hungarian reaction to the President's proposal as another evidence of Hungary's sympathy and friendship with Italy and Germany.

Italian newspapers said the Hungarian view was that the peace proposed by Mr. Roosevelt was not peace with justice, but merely a plan to continue existing "injustices."

Diplomatic circles thought it likely Hungary might be a partner in the next move of the axis powers.

They pointed out Hungary gave Germany support while the Nazis recently were negotiating their new trade agreement with Roumania—Hungary massing almost 500,000 soldiers on the Roumanian frontier.

ALD. H. L. COREY TO CONTEST SEAT

Chosen By Liberals For Vancouver Centre Provincial By-election

VANCOUVER (CP)—Alderman H. L. Corey will stand May 1 as the Liberal candidate in the by-election in the Vancouver Centre provincial riding, made necessary by the death several weeks ago of Alderman Fred Crone, who sat in the Legislature as a Liberal.

C. G. Pennock, the only other nominee put forward at the convention last night, withdrew in favor of Mr. Corey.

"Your action tonight is without parallel in the political history of British Columbia, for I have not been a member of your party nor of any other party," Alderman Corey said in a brief acceptance speech.

"I pledge to you my best efforts to continue in the footsteps of Alderman Crone, the link between the provincial government and the city."

Premier Pattullo, in the opening speech of the by-election campaign, said eastern Canada "must be notified that British Columbians are still behind their government."

"The winning of Omineca and Burrard, and more especially of Dewdney, which was a gain from the Conservatives, brought great strength to the government," he said, adding that these victories brought favorable reaction in eastern Canada toward British Columbia's financial position.

"It is two years since the last general election and the Liberal policies are still far from being carried out," the Premier said. "Great bodies move slowly."

"We have three years of government to run," he said. "We sincerely hope that by that time the government's policies will have borne fruit."

Speaking of the relation between the city of Vancouver and the provincial government, the Premier said the government "is exceedingly sympathetic as to the position of the municipalities."

"There are two or three matters with regard to Vancouver that will receive consideration at attention from the government," he said. "We shall have to wait until we know what Ottawa will do for us. After all, we have to work within our own jurisdiction."

M.P.'S CRITICIZE FINANCIAL POST

OTTAWA (CP)—Strong exception was taken by three Liberal members of the Commons public accounts committee today to criticism by the Financial Post of Toronto in its April 15 issue of the committee's inquiry into the Bren gun contract.

Members said the newspaper accused the government of "passing the buck" to the public accounts committee as far as responsibility for deciding what action should be taken regarding the contract. The Davis royal commission's report had left that responsibility on Parliament.

"So far, the public accounts committee has been slow to shoulder this responsibility," the paper said, claiming it had so far heard largely only unimportant and irrelevant evidence.

G. W. McPhee, Liberal, Yorkton, declared the paper would not dare to make such comment on court proceedings and the committee was a court created by Parliament, the highest authority in the land.

"I refuse to have my work judged by someone sitting in a swivel chair who knows nothing of Parliament," said Mr. McPhee. "Peter Bercovich, K.C., Liberal, Carter-Montreal, the paper 'ought to have better sense.' Its comment was at least improper."

G. G. McGeer, K.C., Liberal, Vancouver-Burrard, held the paper's statement about "buck-passing" meant the Prime Minister had shifted a responsibility of Parliament to the committee.

"We have examined the plan and found it was not a broken-down boiler plant, as some claimed," he added.

"Not at all," objected Angus MacInnes, C.C.F., Vancouver East.

"We saw an industry brought back to life," said Mr. McGeer. "Exactly," agreed Mr. MacInnes.

Mr. McGeer felt the paper was also accusing the committee of not investigating the facts, whereas they had been investigated.

BANTING QUILTS LEAGUE OFFICE

Scientist Will Not Continue As Vice-chairman of Leadership Group

TORONTO (CP)—Sir Fredrick Banting, who took over the vice-chairmanship of the Leadership League at a mass meeting here March 15, issued a statement last night regarding his connection with the league, a non-partisan organization seeking co-operation of all political parties.

The statement of Sir Fredrick, as published today in the Toronto Globe and Mail, original sponsor of the Leadership League, said:

"The vice-chairmanship of the Leadership League was accepted by me only for the mass meeting held March 15 at Maple Leaf Gardens. I agreed to accept this responsibility because of my sincere belief that such a movement can accomplish much for our country.

"The pressure of my scientific work makes it impossible for me to continue in any permanent post of executive responsibility in the organization and for that reason it has become necessary for me to decline a permanent appointment in that capacity.

"I am continuing as a member of the league and wish it well, and if at any time my advice may be sought by it I will be pleased to assist to the best of my ability."

Medical Care in Canada Increases

Now at Highest, Rogers Tells M.P.'s as Massey Makes Relief Charges

OTTAWA (CP)—While relief administration in Canada is not perfect, it results in the Canadian people generally receiving more medical attention than they received before the depression; Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Labor, told the House of Commons last night in a new clash with Denton Massey, Conservative, Toronto-Greenwood, over the number of people who may have died as a result of want.

"Through relief administration and the medical services attached to it we have a greater degree of medical attention than we have ever had before," said Mr. Rogers.

The minister repeated his earlier declaration that Mr. Massey's statement that thousands had died from starvation, illness, lack of care and exposure was unfounded and irresponsible. But Mr. Massey stood by it, although explaining it was not confined to transient men and did not imply any particular number had died from starvation alone.

The debate on unemployment which precipitated the Rogers-Massey clash last week continued this afternoon. Mr. Rogers is seeking passage of a resolution which will permit him to introduce the annual bill to provide for a continuance of unemployment relief measures.

End of withdrawing his statement that thousands had died, Mr. Massey declared thousands more were slowly dying from malnutrition and other conditions.

DEATHS ON RAILWAYS

In support of his charge he quoted the Bureau of Statistics to the effect 10,000 people died in 1936 without medical attendance. Some of these would certainly have lived had they had proper care, he said. Besides 918 persons had been killed from 1932-37 inclusive while trespassing on railway property. Most of these were probably indigent transients.

The death rate in that section of Toronto where most relief recipients lived was higher than in other sections of the city, he said. This was no doubt due to the conditions under which the people lived and would apply across Canada.

Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary of British Columbia, was quoted by Mr. Massey as saying in a magazine article: "The public dependents, alone number 1,500,000 and there are at least as many others who fall in the class of medically indigent."

Mr. Massey said that "in other words, according to Dr. Weir, there are 3,000,000 or more than 25 per cent of our population who cannot afford the cost of any medical attention whatsoever."

Malnutrition caused certain diseases such as tuberculosis, pneumonia and ulcers of the stomach from which many people died, he said.

Mr. Rogers said Mr. Massey would have raised himself in the estimation of the House had he withdrawn the statement, for he had failed completely to prove it.

SOCIAL CREDIT THEORY

Numerous suggestions designed to alleviate the unemployment situation which were advanced by Liberal and Conservative members were brushed aside as useless by Social Credit spokesmen, who insisted the cause of unemployment was lack of money and the cure was a new system which would put purchasing power in the hands of the people.

These speeches (Liberal members), together with the record of the Conservative administration from 1930 to 1938 and of the Liberal administration from 1936 until the present, said John H. Blackmore, Social Credit leader, "testify against the old line parties and constitute a convincing and condemning bit of evidence as to the intellectual bankruptcy, financial decrepitude and incompetence of both parties."

John M. Turner, Liberal, Springfield, Man., said the proposed 60-cent-a-bushel initial price for wheat in western Canada next year would cause more unemployment on railways and in other industries.

He advocated a hard-surfaced Trans-Canada highway with connections into all national parks, assistance towards rural electrification and water control.

Other suggested ways of providing employment were: From Harry Leader, Liberal, Portage la Prairie, assistance to young farmers in the purchase of land to keep them farming.

From W. K. Esling, Conservative, Kootenay West, a fixed price on silver mined from newly-opened properties and discussions with industry and labor looking to a universal five-day week.

From Hugh McKinnon, Liberal, Kenora-Rainy River, establishment of a board to co-ordinate knowledge of natural resources and the results of scientific research, and to devise ways of starting new industries.

U.S. CERTIFICATE PLAN REPORTED

OTTAWA (CP)—Social Credit members of the House of Commons found encouragement yesterday in a report from Washington the United States plans to distribute "purchase certificates" among the needy to enable them to buy agricultural products through the regular retail channels.

Rene Pelletier, Social Credit, Peace River, Alta., said "they are doing something there which we in Alberta have attempted to do. We try to put this plan into operation in that province, but for certain reasons well known to most honorable members we have been unable to do so as completely as we desired to."

Reference to the United States plan was also made by J. C. Landeryou, Social Credit, Calgary East, during debate on the government's relief legislation.

As described by Mr. Pelletier, the United States plan is to distribute, in addition to regular relief cheques, free purchase certificates to be exchanged by the recipients for surplus agricultural products through regular retail channels.

These certificates would be a free gift to the needy and would affect some 20,000,000 people.

No Decision On Sealskin Case

OTTAWA (CP)—Judgment has not yet been given by the Exchequer Court regarding seizure of 71 sealskins in British Columbia in May, 1937, A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni, was informed yesterday in a reply tabled in the House of Commons. The Exchequer Court sat in British Columbia last September 12 regarding the skins, which were seized on May 10 and May 18, 1937.

As to whether the skins are deteriorating through having been kept so long in storage, the fisheries department stated:

"All reasonable precautions exercised for preserving skins during storage period. Degree of deterioration, if any, will not be known until skins are processed."

MANITOBA HOUSE ENDS SESSION

Financial Relief Scheme for City of Winnipeg Approved

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba Legislature, in session since February 20, was prorogued last night after making provision for the city of Winnipeg to obtain budget relief from its sinking fund for one year under terms of the report of the royal commission which investigated city financing.

Lieutenant-Governor W. J. Tupper gave assent to 80 bills after the members had completed a busy day in which morning, afternoon and evening sessions were held to clear the order paper.

The city's bill for financial measures was slashed considerably. In committee, on motions of Attorney-General W. J. Major, the following provisions were struck out: A clause to set the business tax on chain stores at a rate of 14½ per cent; increases from 14½ to 20 per cent in the business tax on departmental stores; three clauses providing for taxation of the distribution systems of power companies; a clause to enable the city to tax railway companies; a clause to give the city authority to inaugurate a $500,000 housing project.

EQUALIZATION FUND

Based on the report of the royal commission, of which H. Carl Goldenburg of Montreal was chairman, Winnipeg, on charter amendments, is given power to set up a debt equalization fund. It is planned to have the annual sinking fund installment of $1,200,000 paid into the equalization fund, from which it could be withdrawn for ordinary budget purposes, such as relief payments. By this method it is hoped to overcome a $1,000,000 deficit budget for the 1939-40 fiscal year.

The equalization fund would operate for one year only, pending further study of the Goldenburg report, which recommended several other new sources of revenue. The report found the sinking fund able to "carry itself" without further payments by the taxpayers of Winnipeg.

Special taxation on hard liquor sales in Winnipeg, higher water rates and electric and gas taxes, authorized by the legislature a year ago, will be continued.

MARKETING ACT

Another new measure, the Manitoba Marketing Act, modeled on the natural products marketing act of British Columbia, provides for subsidiary boards and agencies to control marketing of all natural products of the province. The board will have power to regulate prices and to control transportation, packing, storing and marketing of the products. Its orders can be made operative in a single district or province-wide.

Establishment of a land court branch of the Court of King's Bench for adjustment of farm debts is provided for in another act.

RELIEF LOAD HITS PROPERTY VALUES

Survey Shows How Costs Affect Civic Finances Across Canada

MONTREAL (CP)—Relief costs are increasing civic debt throughout the Dominion while property values are gradually shrinking, it is indicated in a survey by the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

Sent yesterday to all municipalities, members of parliament and legislative assemblies, the survey discloses Montreal spent almost $87,000,000 on direct relief in the 1930-38 period. Lesser amounts were spent by Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver and other cities during the same period.

Of the total for Montreal, the report says, the city provided $33,233,132, while provincial and federal grants accounted for the remainder. The city raised the money—all but $1,000,000—by borrowing.

Other cities have covered costs of direct relief by extra taxation—notably Vancouver, which raised the whole of the $7,099,932 required for its share of direct relief by taxes. Toronto raised $4,661,630—a little better than one-quarter its total share—by taxation.

The analysis, which covers 51 towns and cities, places Montreal's total net debt in 1937 at $263,733,985, which is 28.6 per cent of its net taxation valuation, or $294 per capita.

In Montreal, exactly 33 per cent of the valuation is exempt from taxation because it is property owned by Dominion, provincial or municipal government or controlled by religious organizations. In Toronto the exempt schedule is only 16.4 per cent of the total. Vancouver, however, has 68 per cent of its assessed valuation exempt from taxes. Most of this is due to exemptions granted to various forms of business.

A MILLION HOMES ARE HAPPIER

A MILLION CANADIAN FAMILIES have discovered new happiness... new leisure... new savings... by living electrically. To acquaint these people with new uses for electricity in the home, Canadian General Electric has consistently advertised its wide range of products in the Canadian Daily Newspapers.

And records show that daily newspaper advertising does a highly effective job in promoting wider use of General Electric Appliances.

General Electric Appliances safeguard perishable foods, cook delicious meals, even wash the dishes. Other labour-saving devices make child's play of washing and ironing—keep rugs and floors spotlessly clean. Still others provide automatic heating and air conditioning. And Edison Mazda Lamps ensure good light that is kind to the eyes, while G-E Radio brings to the home a world of entertainment.

Daily newspaper advertising has made the public "electrical minded". Proof of this is strikingly evidenced by the fact that recent Canadian General Electric newspaper advertising prompted more than 40,000 men and women from Halifax to Vancouver, to write letters on the subject: "Why I Prefer the Electrical Way of Living".

Hitler 50 On Thursday

IF REICHSFUEHRER HITLER IS CONTemplating any new diversion to mark his 50th birthday on Thursday there are no visible signs at the moment that anything spectacular is under consideration. As a topic for his controlled newspapers, of course, the event itself and the proceedings which are to signalize it vie for prominence of position with a fresh crop of editorial and other comment on President Roosevelt's memorable appeal in the cause of peace. Herr Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter still pitches a high note in the journalistic screech with which the Nazi oligarchy obviously desires to impress the German populace. It argues with its customary disregard for the realities of the present sinister circumstances, for the production of which totalitarianism has only itself to blame, that the real aim of the encirclement strategists is to disarm Germany as effectively as she was disarmed by the operation of the Treaty of Versailles.

The basis of this type of apprehensive argument furnishes its own commentary. The Reichsfuehrer and the Beobachter know well enough that the policy which the Nazi regime has pursued since it assumed power in 1933 is responsible solely for the attitude of the democracies toward 1939 Germany. It adds nothing to the world's stock of knowledge to rehash the anomalies of the Treaty of Versailles. They were numerous. European statesmanship in the meantime has not proved equal to the job of removing or correcting them. The Locarno pacts, other international agreements, and the Kellogg-Brand peace charter collapsed as soon as the world generally felt it had more or less recovered from the economic effects of the great conflagration. Governments once again came under the tutelage of greed.

In spite of some genuine efforts—Britain made heavy sacrifices—to give effect to the general desire of the peoples of all countries to remove the danger of armed conflict, by curtailing the stock of weapons with which wars are fought, the Disarmament Conference which opened with such great hopes in 1932 gradually resolved itself into an armament debate in which sight was completely lost of its primary object. It went down on the record as a memorial to the ineptitude, as well as to the duplicity, of post-war statesmanship. But when Herr Hitler and his controlled press compare the present policy of the democracies with a policy which the abnormal atmosphere of 20 years ago produced they are merely assuming the role of the little boy caught with his finger in the jam pot. The heads of the Nazi and Fascist states have a golden opportunity to put themselves right with the world—to challenge, by the same token, the practical sincerity of the "encirclement strategists" if they doubt it.

Our "Youth Problem"

CANADIANS IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE have read with more than a shudder of distaste the intimation that all German children hereafter—from the age of 10—must become members of the Hitler Youth organization, and go through a series of prescribed training courses which lead directly into the army. We have, of course, already seen the pictures of tiny Italian children of six making their baby-like efforts to imitate the chest-puffing, chin-thrusting, wide-eyed gestures they have been taught to admire. And we have all wondered not a little at the thought of what these children will be when they grow up, never having learned anything but a "might-is-right" philosophy—already old to their cave-man ancestors hundreds of thousands of years ago.

Let us always remember that the Nazi movement was largely a youth movement. The mass of its followers came from the ranks of the millions of young fellows who in the war's aftermath were turned loose on a disorganized civil life in which they found no place; and from the ranks of students and other young people who soon joined them in misery and discontent as the schools poured them forth and civil life offered no future. We in Canada hesitate to admit that we, too, have a "youth problem." There is a tendency to think of "youth" as just like anybody else. Such is by no means the case. Nor will our difficulty be solved by telling our young people they must wait until industry or the professions or the soil can find room for them—because the fields of human activity are already crowded. This is not to suggest that our boys and girls cannot be absorbed by society in a constructive capacity, that they must continue to shuffle along as best they may, that they can know no other philosophy save that of defeatism and apathy. That would be too dark a picture.

What leaders of public thought in Canada will have to realize, however, is that merely recognizing the existence of a condition will not furnish the corrective. Our "youth problem" can not be ignored, because the future of the Dominion depends to a very large extent on the wisdom manifested now by those who have the mental capacity to look a little beyond the end of their noses. At least one arresting fact should be considered with all its implications: What these young people are 20 years from today will be determined by the quality of the direction and assistance given to them while they contemplate their present complexities.

An Interesting Event

ONE OF THE THINGS LIKELY TO BE longest remembered by the Victoria contingent which went to Seattle's big military parade last week-end is the quiet efficiency, courtesy and friendliness of the officers and men of the United States Coastguard cutters Ingham and Atlanta.

The men who entertained Canadian soldiers, with coffee, sandwiches and cigarettes on the spotless decks, in the ward room and in the crew-space of the sleek, white-painted 2,000-tonner Ingham on the way down Puget Sound, had only a few days earlier, on a less calm sea and under a less clear sky, gone to the rescue of the crew of the British freighter Temple Bar, stranded on the rocky Washington coast south of Flattery.

The United States Coastguard has on many previous occasions shown that its motto, "Semper Paratus"—always prepared—applies as much to the needs of its neighbors on the north as to those of its own people. The American force has equipment, both on the sea and in the air, of a class which Canada at present lacks—and it is never slow to offer the use of it to this country in an emergency.

The least thing the Dominion can do, as a sign of appreciation of this good-neighborliness, is to free the comings and goings of these quiet, efficient blue-clad men in the white ships from the least vestige of red tape.

Letters To The Editor

ON MANY OCCASIONS, IN RECENT years we have urged our correspondents to limit their observations in "letters to the editor" to a reasonable length—to not more than 400 words or as much shorter as the subject matter will permit without destroying the argument. We regret to say, however, this request is not being observed, with the result that in numerous instances it has not been possible to publish what otherwise had qualified as interesting material. It should be understood that we welcome carefully-considered and clearly-phrased letters on the many subjects which are engaging the consideration of the reading public in these somewhat complex and continually-changing times. They form an important part of a newspaper, are thought-provoking, and provide an incentive to thorough and serious study. And never before was this incentive more urgently required than it is today. But we, in common with other institutions of this kind, must at times bow to costly mechanical exigencies involving the manufacturing processes. Thus we ask our contributors to bear with us in this regard, and we suggest to them also that they avoid the type of religious or Biblical controversy which serves no enduring or useful purpose.

Ticket for Hat

ONCE IN A WHILE A RARE SPIRIT leaps to transitory fame by doing something that all of us have wished for years that we had the nerve and the means to do.

Such a man appeared in Nashville the other day and asked for two tickets to a wrestling show. Because there was a difference in price the ticket-seller asked if the extra ticket was for another man or for a woman. "For neither," he said. "It's for my hat. Better give me two men's tickets, because it's a man's hat."

Every theatre patron who has spent an evening juggling hat and coat on precarious knee will vote for immortality for this free soul. Extravagant? Silly? Yes, but we suspect this fellow will feel a little better all his life for having once done what he wanted to do!

A Kentuckian advocates two violins for the masters. Fiddlers says he, get tired like fiddlers. How about the listener?

In Detroit, a fellow routed five policemen with dish water. Just like their wives do at home.

Possible scene at outbreak of the next war. A European cabinet minister calls his aide. "Get out that treaty file," he says. "I rather think we're pledged to support both sides."

Hollywood has a new business—escorts for those too tipsy to get home by themselves. Since the escorts are handsome college men, the movie capital may expect a wave of women drinkers.

When man and wife sat together on Westchester County, New York, jury for first time, they heard a case in which a husband sought damages because injury to his wife robbed him of her services. What a natural for a hung jury!

RUSSIA HONORS HER PAST

From New York Times
Joseph Stalin led the applause at the first performance of the revised version of Glinka's well-known opera, "Life for the Czar." The main theme of the piece remains as before because it lends itself to the new Soviet patriotism. The subject is the national uprising of Moscow nobles, burghers and plain people against Polish rule in the year 1613 and the restoration of Russian independence under a new dynasty, the Romanoffs. Instead of chanting a triumphant "Glory, glory to the Czar!" the final chorus now sings "Glory, glory to the fatherland!"

Soviet Russia's reconciliation with its pre-Soviet past is no longer news. But since 1930 the Russian past has been reinterpreted so as to make room even for the conquering Czars. They are now described as the builders of the great Russian fatherland; their spawdwork assures the success of the Soviet experiment by providing the vast arena and the resources.

Joseph Stalin not long ago applauded a new Eisenstein film depicting a victory of Russian princes and burghers over the invading Teutonic Knights back in the 13th century. Patriotic Soviet operas and films have some significance in the present juncture of European affairs.

LONDON.
HAVE YOU HAD a crisis dream? Have you seen the sun grow larger and larger and then burst like a toy balloon? Have you talked to Hitler in your pyjamas before a crowded drawing-room? Have you woken up perspiring after Goebbels had cut off your head?

Professor Kilton Stewart is sure every one of you has had a crisis dream, but only a few of you can remember them. Harvard psychologist, Professor Stewart studied the dreams of the Chinese for the Rockefeller Institute. In Malaya he found the primitive Senola tribes adjusting themselves to civilization by means of dreams.

"They dreamed that their ancestors assured them they should wear clothes," he told me when I met the bearded scientist in his London flat.

Now he and Dr. Nandor Fodor and Dr. E. T. Jensen, noted British psychologists, have established the Psycho-ethic Society for Dream Investigation, with a nice address in Mayfair.

"If we can collect enough crisis dreams," Professor Stewart said to me, "we can find out a lot of important things about social change. For instance, we can find out if the subconscious mind is in favor of ruthless dictatorship, if it is—and that may be why the German people accept Hitler—we can check up on training to see why it allows us to tolerate cruelties."

So you see even a crisis may be some good. If the psychologists are successful it will advance our knowledge.

Professor Stewart gave me some examples of crisis dreams which he has investigated.

Dream 1, of a 24-year-old girl stenographer (low income group): "People were in a panic and I knew there was going to be an air raid. I ran down the nearest subway, where I met a man who I knew was Goebbels. He took out a sword and cut off my head. Though I had no head I seemed to be able to see, and I watched him pound my head with a hammer until it changed to the mask of a snake's head, then finally to a death mask of myself."

Analysis 1 by Professor Stewart: "This girl is perfectly normal except that she has a great fear of death. The crisis-liberated an enormous amount of fear energy within her and she had to do something about it. So she wrote this drama in her sleep. In it the main character, Goebbels, symbolizes her death fear."

Dream 2, of a 32-year-old man (middle income group): "I was at a big tea party given by Hitler. He came down the stairs to the drawing-room and I was afraid he would not notice me. But he came straight over and whispered in my ear: 'We must work if we want to eat.' Then I realized I only had on pyjamas and I felt very embarrassed before this well-dressed company. All at once I noticed that Hitler had a beard and he seemed to look like Christ."

Analysis 2 by Professor Stewart: "This man is a Jekyll and Hyde. Consciously he hates Hitler; subconsciously he does not. This is probably due to the fact that when young he was taught that all authority was good. The platitudes 'We must work if we want to eat' and the Christ-like appearance of Hitler bears this out. On the other hand the pyjamas show his shame of being afraid of Hitler."

Dream 3, of a 16-year-old girl just leaving school (high income group): "The sun was growing larger and larger. I knew the end of the world was coming and I searched for my mother. I found her, and the sun burst like a balloon but I was happy."

Analysis 3 by Professor Stewart: "This dream combines the girl's fear of war with her fear of growing up and leaving her mother."

After reading this you will probably dream more, or rather you will remember your dreams, but don't let this worry you.

Professor Stewart says that dreaming, especially crisis dreaming, is good for you. "If your worries and fears do not find release in your sleep they will find an outlet in some other way. They will affect your stomach and make you sick or they will make you irritable and cross."

"Later on we propose to make motion pictures of typical dreams. Then when people seem them on the screen they will be better able to understand themselves and their dreams."

KISSED AGAIN

As through the land at eve we went, And plucked the ripened ears, We fell out, my wife and I, O we fell out—I know not why, And kissed again with tears. Umbrella Originally Not Symbol of Peace

LONDON.
Strange that the umbrella should have become the symbol of peace.

Some people, it seems, thought Mr. Chamberlain might have had a more practical reason for carrying his umbrella with him on his missions of peace. A correspondent of what is described as a sober-minded New York newspaper wrote asking whether it is a fact that attached to the stick of his umbrella is a tear-gas cartridge that could be turned instantly on any fanatic who might molest him.

English residents refuted this notion by ridiculing it.

The umbrella, they wrote in a joint reply, is "actually a sword-stick; that is to say, the handle can be pulled out and a thin rapier withdrawn from the stem. Mr. Chamberlain is an expert fencer."

In addition (they explained), the ribs of the umbrella can be removed and expended at a moment's notice into a wire entanglement, behind which Mr. Chamberlain could take cover if charged by cavalry. The black tassel which dangles from the umbrella's middle "conceals a container in which messages may be hidden and dropped from an airplane when other communications fail."

This reply seems to have satisfied curiosity, for there has been no further correspondence.

TAX ON FLOUR

To the Editor:—Your contemporary, the Winnipeg Tribune, jumps to the aid of this country's milling industry with some enthusiasm, if one may be guided by that editorial page inquiry in the Times, "A Tax on Flour?"

I am aware of the fact that, just as Canadian wheat has to be kept "at competitive levels" in the international market, so also has Canadian wheat-flour, if it is to hold its customary position in the world "export" picture.

Nevertheless there is no need for any mystery as to the requisite technique, purposes or benefits, in connection with the erection of a Canadian valuation for the domestically-consumed portion of our wheat crop—with the requisite "drawback" applying to the exported flour.

I have not the requisite data, but understand that the process is already at work in Great Britain, Australia and other countries. The Canadian Council of Agriculture, I believe, favors this home-price principle, as a rural equivalent in the opposite balance to the operation of the tariff of the secondary industries. It has, at any rate, been quite clear for almost a decade now, that our wheat farmers need some form or measure of price protection to enable them to remain not alone "in production" but, what is almost as important, appropriate customers for Canadian factories.

IN DEFENCE OF CBC

To the Editor:—I wonder of Mr. Tighe availed himself of the opportunity of hearing Mr. Dilworth, regional director of CBC during any of his talks here in recent months?

At a university extension lecture he told us frankly and informally some of the difficulties with which the CBC has to contend. One of the most significant things he pointed out was that CBC is not, if not Canada's greatest, public utility. So surely instead of "knocking" it at every opportunity and even suggesting its surrender, it would be to our advantage—since we are part owners—to criticize it constructively and, in turn, offer our suggestions to the CBC. Has this idea ever occurred to Mr. Tighe and others who continually criticize destructively?

Has Mr. Tighe made the test of listening to CBC for hours at a time as he presumably does to behold to the United States for radio programs? Surely debates on national matters and the Sunday afternoon talks from Winnipeg or Halifax and London "hook-ups" and other subjects of interest to Britishers which the CBC now gives us are worth much less than 1 cent a day, although I agree with your writer, Mr. W. H. Hiley, that if some method could be worked out whereby we were taxed according to tubes, it would be much fairer, and probably if we bring this to the attention of CBC it could receive consideration. If this idea were carried out it surely would meet with many people's approval.

WHO WINS?

From Portland Oregonian
If there were a Pulitzer prize for the year's best figure of speech—and it wouldn't be a bad idea—we would start off 1939 by nominating one achieved by Virgil Jordan, the economist:

"Western civilization has slipped back about 500 years in the past quarter of a century, as a result of fighting a war that nobody could win, any more than anybody could win the San Francisco earthquake."

So far as modern wars are concerned, between forces of comparatively equal strength, that description is final.

City Council Refers Street Railwaymen's Request to Committee

The request of the Victoria Street Railwaymen's Association, that the City Council seek permissive legislation from the Provincial Government to enable the city to make an agreement with the B.C. Electric Railway Company for continuation of the street car system for the next three years, will be discussed by the mayor and aldermen in franchise committee.

The meeting, called for the near future, will be open to the public. Representatives of the surrounding municipalities will be asked to sit in and members of the street railwaymen's association will be invited to send representatives.

Decision to take that course followed lengthy debate on the issue at last night's council meeting. Features of the discussion were Alderman R. A. C. Dewar's unsuccessful campaign to have the council vote immediately in favor of a move for permissive legislation and Alderman Archie Willis' unsubstantiated challenge to the council over an alleged coup attempted among the aldermen. The remainder of the council professed ignorance of an attempted coup, although Alderman Willis stated the mayor had phoned him last Saturday and said he had been informed such a move was afoot.

Discussion arose following reading of a letter, above the signature of E. E. Fox, president of the street railwaymen's association, voicing a plea to the council to seek legislation to permit an agreement for a three-year extension of the present service. The letter noted the majority in favor of retaining cars recorded at the polls last Thursday and cited the precedent set in New Westminster, where the council sought such legislation following loss of a money by-law which received a majority insufficient to carry.

Alderman Dewar presented a motion to grant the request of the street car men. Alderman B. J. Gadsden seconded it.

WANT COMMITTEE DISCUSSION

Alderman T. W. Hawkins moved an amendment that the issue be referred back to the franchise committee for discussion and a report. He was seconded by Alderman W. L. Morgan.

Alderman Dewar drew the council's attention to the fact a majority had supported the continuation of street cars when the question was put to the general electorate in December. On the eve of that election the mayor had pledged himself to be governed by the will of the people but had later declared the margin by which the vote carried too small to be decisive, the alderman said. Last Thursday the majority had been three times as large. He cited the New Westminster precedent and stated the council should respect the wishes of the people.

If a bus system were to be put to a vote the opinions of 1,500 ratepayers would have to be changed to secure a sufficient majority to approve an agreement, Alderman Dewar added, before noting that after another three years the air would be cleared and a more satisfactory vote could be taken.

Alderman Willis rose to complain of "certain things" that had been going on and suggested that all matters be considered in open council rather than in committee. He referred to the mayor's telephone call and indicated the mayor had spoken in a threatening tone over the alleged coup attempt. Personally, the alderman said, he knew nothing of the matter. He asked who had paid for the mayor's broadcast, stating he understood the mayor had come out definitely for buses in his last radio speech.

MAYOR TO PAY

"The mayor will pay for the broadcast," Mayor McGavin replied.

Alderman Willis expressed appreciation of the fact bus transportation would have to come eventually and voiced sympathy with the men who would lose their positions when street cars were abandoned. He wanted legal advice on the request of the street railwaymen's plea before he acted.

Alderman T. W. Hawkins led a chorus of denials of the alleged attempt to stage a coup. In turn each member of the council repeated it.

Alderman Ed. Williams favored the suggestion the issue be referred to the franchise committee for discussion, stating he wanted both technical data and legal information on the question. He thought the New Westminster proposal had nothing to do with the city case.

Alderman W. L. Morgan supported the committee move. He noted the by-law had failed to pass with the required majority and stated he wanted advice.

Alderman S. H. Okell noted councils of this year and last had done their best for the citizens on the transportation question. But the city had "still bigger and better fish to fry" with the B.C. Electric, he said, referring to power rates, the electrolysis issue and the Goldstream plant question. He thought the city could make concessions on transportation to secure benefits on the others. He supported the amendment for committee discussion.

VOICED WARNING

Alderman Gadsden said he found himself in the position of one who had tried to hold up a danger signal before the vote was taken. The city was in a highly embarrassing position and he did not know how it was going to extricate itself. He doubted possible public support for a bus system in view of the temper of the people expressed at the polls on Thursday.

Alderman John A. Worthington voiced sympathy with the street car men's letter as did Alderman W. H. Davies. The latter wanted legal opinion on the question and endorsed a committee session.

Alderman Dewar again called for action on the question, stating too many aldermen wanted to discuss the question behind closed doors.

Alderman Hawkins took exception to the latter suggestion and urged the committee meeting be thrown open and street car men invited to attend.

Alderman D. D. McTavish felt the people favored the continuation of the street cars although the by-law had failed.

On the vote the question was referred back to the franchise committee for consideration and the city solicitor was instructed to make a report to the group on the much-quoted New Westminster move.

Late in the meeting Alderman Williams asked the mayor to call outside municipal representatives together with the franchise committee at an early date. He won support for the motion.

A letter from John Day on the question was referred to the franchise committee.

AUSTRALIA READY TO CO-OPERATE

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP) — Australia's chief hope for defence against dictator nations lies in co-operation with Great Britain and the United States, Stanley M. Bruce, former prime minister of Australia and present high commissioner to Great Britain, said here yesterday.

Australia has spent $350,000, 000 for national defence in the last three years, he said, and added, "I believe we have spent quite enough."

With Mrs. Bruce, he arrived on the Matson-Oceanic liner Mariposa en route to London after a visit to their home.

AUSTRALIAN RIDERS SHRINE CIRCUS FEATURE

Without doubt the greatest riding family of all time will be seen at the Shrine Indoor Circus at the Willows Horse Show Building for six nights starting Monday, April 24. It is "Poodles" Hanford's family of Australian riders.

In this troupe are three generations of the Hanford family. Mrs. Hanford, the mother of "Poodles," officiates as ring master, while "Poodles," the greatest comedy rider of the age, features his 18-year-old daughter, Gracie, who has been raised under the big top since early childhood and has gained the reputation of being the circus's most graceful bareback rider of today. Gracie is shown in the above picture with one of her fine horses.

The Hanford family is one of the 41 features that will be seen at the Shrine Circus. This array of circus talent presented by Polack Bros. Circus is this week playing in Seattle under the direction of the Shrine there. Following the Seattle engagement the circus will come to Victoria intact for their week's engagement here.

More Property Is Sold
City Lands Committee Finds Purchasers For Six More Reverted Lots

The speedy 1939 tempo of the city lands department was further accelerated last night as that group received City Council approval for another six property deals. The sales included parcels on the northwest corner of Norcott and Coventry Avenue for $150; on the south of View between Blanshard and Quadra for $1,000 cash; on the north of Dunedin, between Gorge and the end of Duxbury, for $336.23; on the east of Parry, between Michigan and Toronto for $900 on terms; on the east of Blackwood, between Montrose and Seaview for $150; and on the south of Herald, between Douglas and Government for $350. The committee declined to register of deeds until money had been paid; was supported in a move to permit a Fairfield subdivision; gained endorsement for two demolitions; won support for relaxation of the purchase option on the Variety Theatre to the 7 Up interests for $8,000 on terms; and for the rezoning of the north of Yates from Douglas to Blanshard.

A downward revision in the insurance rates on city-owned property was reported by R. R. Ker, city insurance broker, who stated the changes would effect a saving of $658 per annum for the city. The changes included a reduction from 1.31 to 1.15 on the three year schedule and from 1.31 to .91 on the one year. Use of the Woolen Mill by the Dominion Government and restoration of the Industrial Building to its original use was responsible for lowering of the one year schedule to $42,076.64, Mr. Ker reported.

The Victoria Ratepayers Association suggestion that Victoria acquire property bounded by Pandora, Blanshard, North Park and Quadra Streets for a civic centre and have it dedicated by the King during the Royal Visit, was referred to the lands committee for consideration. Half the property was privately owned, the council was informed.

Extension of the storm sewer and sanitary sewer on Moss Street and Rockland Avenue at a cost of $328 was authorized on the recommendation of the public works committee. That group was empowered to negotiate with the C.P.R. for use of city cable ducts from View Street to Broad. A sum of $117 was voted to A. R. Frewing for plastering the council chamber and instructions were given for improvement of Dallas Road by removal of a sharp angle south of the Immigration Building at a cost of $198.

The council accepted invitations from the I.O.D.E. to attend the Empire Day service at the Parliament Building grounds on the morning of May 23 and from the Esquimalt Community Club to participate in the May Day festivities at Esquimalt Memorial Park on May 1.

Alderman Archie Willis was appointed city representative on the case committee of the Family Welfare Association of Greater Victoria.

Paul Latouche's Quebec letter seeking support for technical education was referred to the legislative committee.

The health committee was asked to report on a letter from V. E. Emery seeking information on the move to establish a city dispensary.

The request of Stewart-Hudson Lumber Co. for use of the building at 405 Gorge Road for a display room was provisionally granted.

Expenditures of the city's celebration committee up to March 31 amounted to $524.65, the committee treasurer reported.

Acceptance of the Beggs Motor Company's offer of a new Dodge car at a net cost of $736 and the Brooklands Motor Cycle Company's bid of $682.50 for a new Harley-Davidson motorbike, siren and side car was reported in a letter from the police commission.

Eight geese have been trapped at Elk Lake and conveyed further north, the water commissioner reported.

S. Gulliford will be retired on April 31 from the engineering department in compliance with his request.

Tuberculosis Now Curable in B.C.

Dr. F. Kincaid Tells Gyros How Province Controls Disease

"Tuberculosis is a curable disease—if we get the case early enough," Dr. Frederick Kincaid, medical director of the Victoria unit of the provincial Board of Health tuberculosis division, told the Gyro Club at its luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

"In fact," he added, "there is no excuse if the disease gets to the advanced stage."

It was only within the last 10 years that tuberculosis had ceased to be regarded as a fatal disease and only in the last three or four years that it had dropped from first to fourth position in the list of causes of death in British Columbia, Dr. Kincaid said.

The disease was being controlled first by segregation of active cases in special hospital sections at Victoria, Vancouver and Tranquille, and secondly, by examination of all persons who had been in contact with active cases, as well as by making surveys in industrial, school and other groups.

Examination was given free in government clinics here and on the mainland to any persons sent there by their own doctor, and the amount a patient could pay made absolutely no difference to the way he was treated on admission to the hospital, he said.

An important part of the control work was done after the discharge of the patient, in seeing that his living conditions were such that he would not be forced into a further breakdown and in providing occupational therapy and vocational training.

The majority of all patients now being treated in British Columbia, he said, got well and were able to return to normal life.

Dr. Kincaid illustrated his talk with a short educational film.

He was introduced by W. C. Hudson and thanked by R. L. Challoner. Art Minnis was in the chair.

Students Will Observe Only

No Burlesque By Pupils at City Hall, Inspector Says

Conditional approval of the Junior Chamber of Commerce proposal to have senior high school students take over duties at the City Hall for one day during the year was given by the City School Board last night at the suggestion of George H. Deane, municipal inspector.

Mr. Deane said he was strongly opposed to any such move which might savor of burlesque, but thought a plan might be worked out through collaboration with the high school principal and the social service instructor.

His suggestion was students might visit the City Hall to observe procedure, but there should be no burlesque of any description by placing pupils in offices of officials.

Promises Franchise to Women of Quebec

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec women have the assurance of Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Federal Minister of Justice, that suffrage will be permitted in this province as soon as the Liberal party returns to power.

Addressing members of the Sir Wilfrid Laurier Women's Club Saturday night, Mr. Lapointe said: "In all countries, in times of crisis, it is the woman who have dictated to men the course of their conduct. Let us hope that the time will come when all their rights will be recognized in this province as they are in other provinces of this country."

Former Victorian Marries in Peru

Miss Barbara Hutton Becomes Bride of John M. Mortimer

A marriage of much interest in Victoria and Vancouver took place on March 31 in La Oroya, Peru, when Barbara Jeanette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Warren Hutton of Vancouver, was united in marriage to Mr. John Mortimer of Victoria, son of the late Arthur J. Mortimer.

MRS. J. M. MORTIMER

A civil ceremony followed the church service, which was conducted by Rev. Mr. Yoder of Lima, Peru. Mrs. Hutton, who accompanied her daughter to South America, gave the bride in marriage. For her wedding the bride wore a stone-colored tulle of heavy silk and wool with rose accessories. On returning from their wedding trip to Lima and other Peruvian cities, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer will live in La Oroya.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of the University of British Columbia, where the former was affiliated with Delta Gamma, and the latter with Sigma Phi Delta.

The bride, who left Vancouver in February for Peru, was much feted in the mainland city before her departure.

The April meeting of the Metropolitan Church was held in the schoolroom, Mrs. W. H. Muncy, president, in the chair. After silent prayer for the three missionaries, two new members were received. The May meeting will be in charge of Mrs. (Rev.) Seeley. Reports from the treasurer and a talk on Christian Stewardship were given by Mrs. Ackhurst. Miss Bialk reported one letter received; visiting committee, Mrs. Cullum reported 74 calls made. Mrs. Cullum had charge of the devotionals. Mrs. C. E. Sonley read the scripture, Mrs. T. Sawyer led in prayer. A solo was given by Mrs. Harry Johns, "Open the Gates of the Temple." Mr. Edward Parsons at the piano. The Mission Circle gave a pleasing pageant and the president, Mrs. Muncy, gave a talk on the Madras conference, which has 70 countries represented now, and all these were urging world peace. Miss Sergeant gave a very helpful talk from the study book, "The Development of Our Missions."

Visitor Tells How British Women Are Prepared

No Panic in Britain, Mrs. E. Tuppen Tells Victoria W.I.

"I don't think there is one woman in England who is not doing something in preparation for the war. But please don't think this means we are panicky. Nothing is farther from panic than the attitude of the people of Britain today. It is merely that we intend to be prepared for the worst, if it should come."

Mrs. E. Tuppen, president of the Waldron Women's Institute of East Sussex, England, made this observation in the course of an interesting talk to the Victoria Women's Institute yesterday afternoon in which she told something of what the women of Britain are doing today.

BALLOON BARRAGE

While Britain is making every preparation to guard her civil population in the event of war, it must be remembered that not every enemy plane will reach its target in England. In addition to the greatly strengthened air force, Britain has erected a great balloon barrage around the whole of the south coast and well up the east coast, she said.

The work of Air Raid Precautions, commonly known as ARP, was described. Under this women, as well as men, are taught how to recognize poisonous gases and to know how to use the remedy, how to make the gas-proof room which every house must have, together with a secondary room, and how to use a gas-mask. Every man, woman and child must have a properly fitted gas mask, and these are tested in special gas cars, she explained.

Mrs. Tuppen also told of the preparations made for casualties and decontamination stations; and the work of the Auxiliary Territorial Force for women, under which women from 18 to 40 are trained as clerks, cooks, storekeepers and as motor drivers with the fullest mechanical training. The announcement by the War Office last September of the formation of the auxiliary force resulted in the recruiting stations being overwhelmed by women anxious to do their bit in preparing for service in the event of war.

CIVIL AIR GUARD

The Civil Air Guard, under which women, as well as men, are taught to fly, to understand aerial map-reading and cross country flying was also explained. Those who obtain their "A" certificate, given only to those who can fly solo for three hours after no more than ten hours' instruction, will, in the event of war, be used to ferry airplanes from the factories to the airfields.

The speaker described as magnificent the role being played by the British Red Cross and St. John Ambulance Association in helping Britain in its preparations for defence. She also referred with pride to the tribute paid to the women's institutes by the authorities, in asking the W.I. to organize the billeting of the children who would need to be evacuated from the large cities in the event of air raids.

All the ARP and other precautionary undertakings designed to prepare the people of Great Britain for war emergencies, were carried on by voluntary workers. Mrs. Tuppen emphasized that the Auxiliary Territorial Force might be cited as an exception, as after one year in this force, the women will be given ten shillings (about $2.30).

FOSTER HANDICRAFTS

Brief reference was also made by Mrs. Tuppen to the organization and work of the women's institutes. She spoke particularly of the handicrafts, having been a member of the East Sussex County Federation handicraft committee for seven years, showing how the exhibitions had tremendously raised the standard of the work turned out.

Mrs. L. Schmelz, the president, introduced the speaker and presented a corsage bouquet to Mrs. Tuppen, and to Miss Adele Ramsay, who, accompanying herself at the piano, sang "Il Bacio" and "Kashmir Song."

At the close of the program tea was served at tables daintily arranged with spring flowers, the executive acting as hostesses.

Benwell, Mrs. S. A. Benwell, an aunt and uncle, and the baby's father. After the service, Mrs. Dakers served tea to relations and friends at her home on North Quadra Street.

A surprise visit was paid to Mr. and Mrs. John A. Beck on Saturday evening, the occasion being their first wedding anniversary. The happy pair were the recipients of many congratulations, accompanied by lovely spring flowers and many useful gifts. The evening was spent in dancing and supper was served from a table centred with a silver basket of yellow daffodils. The self-invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. S. Newstead, Misses Barbara Bradford, Betty Gould and Jenette Moyes, Messrs Jack Rawlinson and Fred Ritchie.

Mrs. Andrew Clarke, Lampson Street, entertained at a delightful tea this afternoon in honor of her mother-in-law, Mrs. J. T. Clarke of Ottawa. The rooms were attractively arranged with spring flowers, and the tea-table, at which Lady Lake and Mrs. T. A. Rickard presided, was centred with an artistic arrangement of lavender stocks and pink sweet peas. The other guests included Mrs. H. Cobbett, Mrs. F. T. McIntosh, Mrs. B. H. Dodds, Mrs. F. G. Hart, Mrs. Guy Turner, Mrs. C. T. Beard, Mrs. H. L. Sherwood, Mrs. G. O. Woodman, Mrs. Duncan Campbell, Miss Mary Campbell, Miss Seaton, Miss Moya McDonald and Miss Kitty Lake. Lieut. and Mrs. Clarke also entertained recently at a cocktail party in honor of Mrs. Clarke.

Cream of Europe's Refugees Seek Haven Here

Canada Would Benefit, Mme. Askansky Tells Business Women

A moving plea to Canadian women "not to shut the door in the face of those refugees who, because of their culture and courage and ideals refused to become enslaved by Nazism" was made by Mme. A. H. Askansky, formerly of Vienna, before the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club at its dinner meeting last night.

CANADA'S OPPORTUNITY

Herself a refugee from Nazi terrorism, Mme. Askansky pointed out the refugees seeking admission to Canada from Germany and Austria include not only Jewish, but members of the Catholic faith, of the old aristocracy, and of the officer class, who refused to fight in Spain—in fact, "the cream" of the "Nazi" gangster power and methods. "These people are now having their hearts broken by the shut doors of the democracies," she declared.

Canada, if she would open her doors to the "cream" of these refugees would help solve her own unemployment problem by providing more consumers for her products and at the same time would help to create a new culture, the speaker urged.

HEARD AGNES MACPHAIL

Appealing to the women to exercise their power, through the franchise, to secure havens for these refugees, the speaker reminded the women of their political and economic responsibilities. She recalled that her own interest in international politics and economics had first been stimulated by hearing Agnes MacPhail, M.P., speak at an international congress of the Women's League for Peace and Freedom in Prague in 1929.

So impressed was Mme. Askansky by Miss MacPhail's dynamic personality and powerful address, that she formed a club among her friends for the study of current world affairs and public speaking, which later developed into a political school for women, which she conducted in Vienna. Her experience, she said, showed her that the so-called political equality of women was a misnomer, not only in Austria, but in the democratic countries as well, where elective bodies of, say, 600 men have only one or two women among them, instead of nearly 50 per cent, she observed.

Subsequently Mme. Askansky devoted her efforts to helping women who because of their political affiliations or other sympathies, lost their citizenship and became stateless.

NOT ONLY JEWS

Reference was made to the never-ending stream of refugees whom she had seen pass through Vienna since 1933. First the Socialists and Communists, then the Jews, then the Catholics, until latterly it became increasingly difficult for the Gentiles to escape from Nazi terrorism unless they purchased Jewish papers.

The speaker blamed present conditions in Germany largely to the big captains of industry who "helped establish the Nazi regime that they might lower the standards of wages and living in order to compete in the markets of the world with Japan, China and India." Germany's outstanding ability for organization had been prostituted to the cause of gangster power and methods, she declared.

SUBTLE PROPAGANDA

Mme. Askansky also deplored the growth of anti-Semitism in the democracies, which she attributed to the subtle propaganda of Goebbels. It was through his subversive propaganda that the refugee question was made a Jewish one—although in point of fact, two-thirds of the refugees are Gentiles, and include former scientists, doctors, lawyers and other brilliantly educated men and women.

Mme. Meta Kraus-Fessel, another Viennese refugee, who recently joined Mme. Askansky at Sooke, also spoke briefly. Miss Margaret Clay presided in the absence through illness of the president, Mrs. James Bland. The gathering was held in Terrys.

Paris Canadians Find New Friend

Mme. Vanier Takes Up Residence in Legation There

By GLADYS M. ARNOLD
Canadian Press Correspondent
PARIS (CP) — Madame Vanier, wife of Lt.-Col. George P. Vanier, new chief of the Canadian Legation in France, was hardly settled in her spacious apartment on the Avenue Foch when the correspondent called.

"Sit down and tell me all about yourself," she said. "Tell me about the Canadians and especially if there are many students studying here in Paris and how one can get in touch with them?"

(The Vaniers have just moved to Paris from London where Colonel Vanier was secretary to the office of the High Commissioner for Canada since 1931. Madame Vanier is the daughter of the late Mr. Justice C. H. Archer of Montreal.)

Ten minutes of telephone calls and domestic SOS's from house, settling servants interrupted her and gave us time to observe the Legation's new chateau. Madame Vanier combines British and French ancestry. She has the tall, svelte figure and carriage of the stately Englishwoman, with the charm, vivacity and wit of the French. Her dark eyes and white hair give her a distinction which will appeal to Paris.

"There now," she said finally, "but it would save a lot of trouble if they would only put electric bells in French houses!"

"We have been enormously touched by the welcome given us," she said. "Of course it is not for us personally, but due to the genuine love the French people bear Canada and Canadians and the respect and affection which our predecessors, Monsieur and Madame Philippe Roy inspired. It is a little frightening to try and live up to the tradition created by them."

LIVING INTERESTS
Madame Vanier, who speaks French with a classic accent which delights Parisians, asked eagerly many questions about the students in Paris, remarking that she and Colonel Vanier are particularly interested in young Canadians studying abroad. "We want to know them all, what they are doing and how we can help them. But to find them all is the problem. For as soon as we are settled," she waved her hand at several pictures of snow scenes by Canadian artists, leaning against the wall and fireplace—"our first social effort will certainly be for our own students."

With the usual question of "interests" Madame Vanier's dark eyes twinkled with amusement. "My interests are all very human and I've four of them," she replied, laughing. "And all are in school in England for the moment as we couldn't take them away in the middle of the term. The eldest is 16, my daughter Theresa—and I've three boys, Bernard, Jean (whom his Scottish nurse has renamed Jock for us) and George, whom his godfather, Lord Byng, 'nicknamed' Byngie when a baby and 'Byngie' he is."

"Do you ride?" she was asked, for the Avenue Foch is among the few exclusive streets in Paris for equestrians. "I'd like to," she replied regretfully, "but I simply haven't the time, and of course I'm interested in music and art—but I'm neither artist nor musician. The best that can be said for me perhaps, is that I'm an 'appreciator,' and then with a smile she finished, "my literary activity is quite an item—with four long letters to be written to the children—that's quite an effort, don't you think?"

Dowager Lady Aberdeen Was Remarkable Woman

Founded Council of Women, Victorian Order of Nurses and Many Other Humanitarian Organizations While in Canada; Was Honorary President International Council

ABERDEEN — Isabel, Dowager Marchioness of Aberdeen and Temair, who died this morning at her home, aged 82, Gordon House, was one of the outstanding women of the world, in point of long service to humanity.

She was born in 1857, a daughter of the first Baron Tweedmouth, and married the first Marquess of Aberdeen in 1877, who later became Governor-General of Canada. During her regime at Rideau Hall, Lady Aberdeen wrote a book on her travels in the Dominion. She also founded the Victorian Order of Nurses in Canada and was the holder of an honorary degree in law from Queen's University, Kingston, Ont.

FOUNDED COUNCIL
She was the friend of Gladstone and many other great Victorians. As a founder of the National Council of Women, which a famous statesman once described as the first League of Nations, Lady Aberdeen travelled widely, visiting councils in distant lands.

Until recent weeks Lady Aberdeen retained her active interest in social work. Every month she went to Dublin to attend the meetings of the Women's Health Association, which she founded many years ago when her husband was Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. It was formed to cope with poverty and malnutrition among the people.

CHILDREN'S FRIEND
Among her enterprises in recent years was a scheme to popularize goat's milk for children. She also sponsored a sanatorium near Dublin providing treatment aid paid occupation for the patients and enabling the men to have their families with them.

Lady Aberdeen had been honorary president of the International Council of Women since 1936, and for many years prior to that had been president. She was instrumental in having a clause added to the covenant of the League of Nations enabling women to hold positions connected with the league on an equal footing with men. Despite her age, Lady Aberdeen retained her active interest in the International Council of Women almost to her death, and as recently as May, 1938, she broadcast an address of welcome to the meeting of the National Council of Women, of which she was the founder, at its annual sessions in Vancouver.

Speaking from Aberdeen, she spoke of the growth of the council movement from its inception and, at one point enunciated the following, which summed up her own philosophy:

"Many of you younger women can scarcely realize the burden and the cost of the struggle to the women of an older generation. You have entered into a goodly heritage, and I pray you to hold it in high honor. "We are living in difficult times, and it seems as if our children are destined to face even greater difficulties, as we see the unbelievable changes that are taking place in many nations, and the assaults that are coming from so many sides on the very basis of our lives and freedom and faith. But let us still press on, upholding the principle and practice of our Golden Rule, and making 'Faith, not Fear' our watchword."

HONORED AT JUBILEE
This year saw the International Council's Golden Jubilee, and at the huge gathering held in Edinburgh, Lady Aberdeen was presented with the fund created as a Lady Aberdeen Memorial fund, the interest of which is to be used to further a new and sympathetic understanding among the women of the world.

Educationist, writer, philanthropist and reformer, Lady Aberdeen left a number of outstanding books, including "Ireland's Crusade Against Tuberculosis"; "We Twa," written with the late Lord Aberdeen, "More Cracks with We Twa" and, in 1936, "The Musings of a Scottish Granny."

a central office and efforts will be made to equalize the income of all members over a period of time. Members of the Enterprise pay an initial fee of 25 cents a month and 10 cents a month for each succeeding month.

Their slogan is: "We fix everything."

Queen's Influence Shown in Hair-do
U.S. Cosmetic Makers Also Name Lipstick For Royalty

NEW YORK (CP) — "Queen Elizabeth influence" is the latest thing in beauty circles.

A cosmetics manufacturer points out that the Queen's favorite daytime frocks in grey and beige and evening gowns in white, grey or silver should be worn with rich—not gaudy—make-up. That's why, they say, they are putting out the new rich red lipstick and rouge—royalty red.

Soft blue and violet eye-shadows also are offered, since the Queen has indicated a fondness for costumes in those colors. A nail polish company is even putting out a "royalty" lacquer. But its hair stylists, who, in the good old American vernacular, have "gone to town." They're designing coiffures "for" the Queen "inspired by" the Queen, or to be worn with frocks for which the Queen is said to have expressed a fondness.

Take the "crinoline dress coiffure" of M. Vasco, an English hair stylist. It is supposed to be worn with the crinoline dresses made so popular by the Queen. In this "crinoline dress coiffure" the hair is parted in the centre. There's a bunch of flat curls on the forehead. The side hair is swept high and the back hair arranged in a knot of Grecian curls.

Then there's the hairdress executed by a London hair stylist in honor of Her Majesty. In it the hair on top and at the sides is about four inches in length. It's curled, then combed out and waved in crown fashion. The rest waves straight down the back of the head and is finished with a row of soft curls at the nape of the neck.

Law Not Aimed To Guard Coal

No Effort Made to Exceed Provincial Jurisdiction, Wismer Declares

The Macdonald report on coal and petroleum products in British Columbia contained two distinct sections. One outlined evils in the gasoline business within the province. The other pointed out methods by which coal could be protected from the competition provided by imported oil. Hon. Gordon Wismer, K.C., Attorney-General, stressed that point in the Court of Appeal yesterday afternoon as he continued the province's appeal against Mr. Justice Macdonald's ruling declaring the Coal and Petroleum Products Control Board Act ultra vires in its price-fixing clauses.

contention the gas act aimed to protect coal.

Mr. Wismer read further extracts from the Macdonald report, regarding different prices charged for types of gasoline, the performance of which appeared the same. That, he felt, was a matter for control by the government, and the only method of enforcing the required regulation was by provincial legislation, involving price fixing.

There were two phases of the report, one dealing with those issues which could be handled by the Dominion government, through such machinery as the tariff board—the other dealing with the local evils within the jurisdiction of British Columbia's legislation.

The act, Mr. Wismer said, made no effort to cover those matters which came directly under federal jurisdiction.

Application of the dumping duty, a means suggested for the protection of the coal industry against the incursion of heavy fuel oil, was not a matter for the province, he said.

He cited the report to the effect that balance sheets of big companies revealed they were making large profits, but did not indicate how large they were.

"We have shown evils within our jurisdiction which would justify the act," Mr. Wismer remarked as he returned, again to the question of the two-fold import of the report.

If the act, as it was drawn, was carried out in British Columbia, there would be room for a very substantial reduction in petroleum product prices without interfering in any way with the present companies outside the province.

Mr. Wismer gave further emphasis to his refutation of the opposition's claims the act aimed at protecting the coal industry. The report fully indicated the method by which such protection could be provided by the Dominion government. That was not a policy the province sought either directly or indirectly in the act.

"There is no basis for my friend's submission and the trial judge's finding there was an ulterior motive in the act," he concluded on that point.

The Attorney-General then outlined the set-up of the defendant companies, to meet the contention they were integrated companies whose activities would be disrupted by application of the act. The summary served to show the companies were largely B.C. concerns, in the majority of cases, subsidiaries of major U.S. and British firms, either carrying on manufacture or refining in B.C. or purchasing requirements from the Imperial Oil plant at Loco.

Their business could be carried on just as well if they were independent in British Columbia. Such independence would not disrupt the parent concerns, Mr. Wismer said.

He quoted the manager of the Loco plant to show the Imperial interests manufactured or refined virtually all their products from imported crude oil, interchangeably called petroleum.

In reply to Mr. Justice Sloan, Mr. Wismer stated any international operation of the companies were incidental to the provincial operations of the different concerns. The international operations included the importation of crude oil.

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. J. J. Heagerty, Director of Public Services of the Department of Pensions and National Health, will represent Canada at a conference of state and provincial health authorities of North America to be held at Washington, April 20. Meetings will be held in conjunction with a conference of state and territorial health officers and delegates will discuss nutrition and disease control.

WINDSOR'S FAMED basketballers are coming back to Victoria. The boys from Canada's automobile centre won themselves a trip to the Pacific Coast on Saturday night when they won their second straight game from Montreal to lift the eastern Canada championship. The east-coasters are scheduled to enroute for Victoria Wednesday, and open the Canadian final against our Dominions at the new Willows court Saturday night.

For some of the Windsor players it will be their second visit to this city, while others will be making their third invasion of the Pacific Coast. The Windsor club will attempt to accomplish something no eastern outfit has been able to put over as far back as we can remember—win a Canadian championship in the west. The western clubs have traveled east and capped the honors. Vancouver Province beat Montreal a few seasons ago and Vancouver Westerns sparked Ottawa in the Canadian capital last spring.

The series between Dominions and Windsor is certain to produce some sure-fire basketball. There will be no love lost between the clubs in view of the three straight defeat the Dominions suffered at the hands of Windsor in Windsor three years ago. Several members of that team will come to Victoria, including Allison, Stewart, Nantais and Pendelbury. The three new members will be Glen Sherman, Weiss and Blair. However, Sherman will be no stranger to Victoria, as he played here with both Windsor-Walkerville and Assurance College.

Announcement yesterday that Malcolm Wiseman, captain of the Windsor club, will not make the trip owing to a broken arm suffered in the second game with Montreal, means the easterners will be weakened for the final. Wiseman is one smart ball player and in former appearances here gave the local club plenty of trouble. However, Windsor were able to whip Montreal without Wiseman, so one can figure them plenty tough to beat.

Dominions are taking the final seriously enough. The boys were out at the Willows for a workout last night. They will practice again tonight and wind-up their training either tomorrow evening or Thursday. Both Coach Eric Cox and Skipper Chuck Chapman realize the boys were not at their best against Winnipeg, and intend to give them lots of work before going against the eastern winners.

Boston Bruins won the world professional hockey championship Sunday night, as many fans figured. Art Ross' club packed too much scoring punch and too tough a defence for Toronto. The Leafs have a great line in Drillon, Apps and Davidson, but the Boston powerhouse found a way to stop them cold and the Leafs' offence was cut down to a minimum.

Speaking about hockey, we had a talk with Frank Sommer, well-known local sportsman, who returned to the city the other day after a long winter vacation, during which time he visited New York and took in several hockey games. Sommer attended the engagement between the Rangers and Boston during which Muzz Patrick went to town on Eddie Shore. "That was one of the best fights I have ever seen," Sommer said. "After it was all over Col. John Kilpatrick, president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, came over to the box where I was sitting with Mrs. Lester Patrick, and remarked: 'That boy of yours can sure swing those fists of his.'"

While in New York Sommer was royally entertained by Lester Patrick. In company with the vice-president and manager of the Rangers, he attended the Billy Conn-Fred Apostoli fight, and before the bout was introduced to the two principals. He also met Max Schmeling and Joe Jacobs, his manager. Sommer told us Muzz Patrick has a lot of color and is going to develop into one of the outstanding defencemen in the league. His brother Lynn has been in there nearly all winter by a bad knee, and it has hampered his play, he said.

Defeat Edmonton Roamers 4 to 2 to Capture Canadian Junior Hockey

TORONTO (CP) — The Memorial Cup, Canada's prize to the best junior hockey team, came east today for the 10th time in its storied 21-year-old history. The winning of the cup was proof Oshawa Generals were far from a one-man club. Generals, beaten in the finals last season by St. Boniface, completed the overthrow of Edmonton Roamers before 11,000 fans last night with a 4 to 2 triumph that threw the McAttee brothers, Norm and Jud, into hero roles they hardly knew how to assume. It was Oshawa's third victory in four games.

Handcuffing Billy Taylor for the second successive game by keeping Elmer (The Shadow) Kreller on his tail, Roamers wilted under the pace of the McAttees who scored three times in the last period. Jud smashed home the equalizer and Norm the winners.

SEEMED BETTER TEAM

For two full periods and nearly eight minutes of the third Roamers seemed the better team. George Agar had given them a lead in the first period and Johnny Chad did it again after Oshawa's Jimmy Drummond fired home a 20-footer while two Roamers were in the penalty box early in the second period. Checking feistily it appeared likely the westerners would repeat Saturday's 4 to 1 win.

But the terrific Oshawa pressure, applied from the start of the last period, finally broke down the defence. At 16:43 came the break, Norm flashing in to bat home a short rebound of Jud's shot. Less than a minute later, Norm stole the puck in the Roamer defence, skated in close and blasted a drive past goalie Kilburn.

All this time Taylor, the General ace who scored nine of the 21 goals in the first two victories over Edmonton, had been tied together neatly by Kreller. It was Billy The Kid who passed the puck to Drummond for the second-period tally but that wasn't Kreller's fault. With two mates off, Kreller had to chance leaving Taylor alone in a corner for a moment.

Roamers, who started the series looking helpless before the easterners and finished fighting hard and almost evenly, hadn't an alibi.

"We haven't an alibi, excuse or anything," said coach Lefty Grove of Roamers. "They beat us but we'll be back to beat them next year."

Murphy Electrons Win Table Tennis

Displaying ambitious form a picked team from the Victoria Boys' Athletic and Hobby Club competed in a table tennis tournament last night at their club house, with the Murphy Electrons, winners of the second division of the City League, this year.

The boy's club team has only been organized a short while, but they are practicing now with the view of entering the City League tournaments next year. Playing the American tournament style, the contestants in teams of four played 16 games. Results were: Hobby Club 2, Murphy Electrons 14.

The boy's club team consisted of A. Seed, E. Seed, Jack Knowles and Reg. Hopkins; Murphy Electrons, W. Robinson, D. Robinson, R. Peebles and A. Jordan.

Ports 2 Games Up

Bearcats Tounce Montreal 3 to 1 in Second Battle of Allan Cup Hockey

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal hockey fans are just about convinced Port Arthur Bearcats have what it takes to make a championship team.

When Bearcats defeated Montreal Royals 6 to 5 in the opener of the Allan Cup final last week, speed and stickhandling wizardry were outstanding attributes in the victory. When they tounded the eastern Canada senior amateur hockey champions 3 to 1 last night they showed they were as good defensively as they are up front.

Bearcats struck infrequently but with deadliness to score their second straight victory in the best of five series. Forced to come from behind after little Pete Morin gave the Montrealers the lead early in the game, the Cats turned a Royal penalty late in the opening session to good advantage and two quick goals by Stan King wafed them to victory.

THIRD GOAL
Once in front, Bearcats took few chances, content to force Royals to wear themselves out against close back-checking and a tight defence. Bob Manahan brought them their final goal in the second period but it was not needed.

Third game of the series will be played Thursday and unless Royals can fathom Ports style of play the Allan Cup will return to the west for another year. Trail Smoke Eaters won it last season.

On last night's showing, Bearcats are heavy favorites to make it three straight, although Royals count on return of Buddy O'Connor, dynamic little centreman, to bring back the fire that carried them to the eastern title.

Both teams came out of the struggle in good condition and Thursday's game should be the best of the series. If Royals win the fourth game will be played Monday.

WILLOWS SPORTS CENTRE

Victoria Sports Centre Ltd. Will Operate New Indoor Playing Court

Final details for the operation of the industrial building at the Willows as a sports centre were completed yesterday evening at the meeting of the City Council when the lease of the building to the Victoria Sports Centre Ltd. was approved. The lease is until November 30, 1941.

FEATHERWEIGHT TITLE AT STAKE

Joey Archibald and Leo Rodak Engage in Championship Bout Tonight

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Trained to a razor's edge, Joey Archibald of Pawtucket and Leo Rodak of Chicago clash here tonight with the world featherweight championship at stake.

It will be the first real 126-pound title scrap since Henry Armstrong defeated Pete Serron in Madison Square Garden, New York, two years ago.

Rodak is rated the No. 1 contender by the National Boxing Association and Archibald is the recognized champion in New York State. Tonight's victor will be treated as champion by both the N.B.A. and the New York State Commission.

Department Store Elevens to Battle

Wednesday League football squads will usher in their bids for the Reanne and Taylor Cup tomorrow afternoon, when Spencers and Hudson's Bay clash at the Athletic Park, starting at 2:30. Joe Obee will referee.

Tomorrow's battle between the store squads should provide some keen competition and officials are hoping for as good a turnout of supporters as was enjoyed at the Spencer-Navy game last week at Beacon Hill.

This is the only game on tomorrow's card.

Spencer's team follows: Stevenson, McMillan, D. Gent, Cann, Bradley, Clarke, K. Gent, Brown, McBride, Collins, Thomas, Reside, Lund, Richards, Byatt and B. Ponsford.

Football League Friday night at 7 in Liberal headquarters, Braghton and Government Streets, Secretary Tom Ellis announced today.

Willows Sports Centre

Victoria Sports Centre Ltd. Will Operate New Indoor Playing Court

With a seating capacity of close to 2,500, the auditorium will be ideal for the holding of major attractions that in the past have suffered through the lack of seating space.

Next winter it is the intention of the Dominions to play their Saturday night exhibition games on the new court, which in previous seasons have been held at the High School with limited seating accommodation.

It is the intention of the new group to operate the building for the promotion of indoor sport and any other activities that may desire its use. Efforts will be made to interest the lacrosse interests for the holding of boxla games there this summer. With such a fine playing floor it will be possible to stage games with the crack Vancouver and New Westminster clubs taking part.

Box lacrosse is a major sport on the mainland and with the proper facilities here it would no doubt be a great crowd-pleaser.

At the present time the new centre is being used by the Dominions basketball club for its playdowns. The western Canada finals against Winnipeg St. Andrews were played last week with large crowds in attendance at both engagements.

Opening Saturday night, the Dominions will meet Windsor Alumni in the Canadian final and these games are certain to draw well over 2,000 people.

Defeats Cincinnati 7 to 5 in Opening Major League Baseball Game

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK (AP) — Please, Mr. Weatherman, let's get this 100th anniversary baseball season started today.

More than 200,000 cash customers and millions who can't get away with that old "my grandma-is-sick" excuse, will thank you for it no end. And 16 big league managers, who have been playing everything from nursemaid to Simon Legree for rookies and veterans for nearly two months, will be much obliged.

We all know you're threatening everything from showers to snow for this afternoon's opening day parties in eight big league cities, but since you held off long enough to let Cincinnati lift the lid yesterday, why not give us a break all around now?

EIGHTH IN ROW

Incidentally, we suppose you noticed even the pale sun peeking through the clouds yesterday couldn't change a thing for the Reds. They lost their eighth opener in a row with 30,644 fans on hand. They started off pretty well, what with Buck McCormick banging the year's first homer, but after Pittsburgh Pirates got through clubbing Bucky Walters and Peaches Davis for four runs in the eighth—well, the Bucs took it, 7 to 5. Shortstop Billy Myers of the Reds went to a hospital after a throw by Bill Brubaker knocked him cold, but he wasn't seriously hurt.

One policeman said the city had not gone so "completely nuts" since the Armistice 21 years ago.

Champ Gets $45,000 for Fast Work

25,000 See Brown Bomber Smash Veteran to Canvas at Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Joe Louis began packing up his belongings today to head east for his next odd job of defending the world heavyweight boxing championship.

Louis disposed of his California assignment last night in two minutes and 20 seconds by the clock, leaving a game but battered Jack Roper knocked out in his own corner.

Twenty-five thousand fans, eager for a thrill, got it in short, dynamite doses. Roper, fulfilling a promise to trade punches with the deadly punching Louis, landed three vicious hooks to the head with his famed left. They weren't enough.

Louis, jolted by the first and stung by the other two, moved in for the kill. He got it, with a right smash to the head, followed by a left.

There were other blows before. Roper pawed desperately for another chance to drop his punch on the Louis jaw. Louis straightened the old warrior up with a left uppercut. It started him out. The two finishers completed the job, a clean knockout.

FALLS ON FACE

Battered to the canvas, Roper was trying to climb up the ropes before the end of the 10-count. He didn't make it, and pitched over on his face after it had been completed.

Louis readily praised Roper's punching, and said he believed he would have less trouble with Tony Galento in New York this summer. Roper, he added, threw a left "that I sure felt," and that was more than Max Schmeling or John Henry Lewis did.

"Don't let anybody fool you," said Roper, afterwards. "That Louis hits like a load of dynamite."

Louis' only injury was a thumb nail torn by a glove fashioned too short for his hands. Roper, a battle-scarred veteran whose crack at the title came at the age of 36, was beaten around the head, but laughed it off.

The 25,000 attendance and gate receipts of around $100,000 were not far off from the expectations of Mike Jacobs, New York promoter who staged the affair—his first venture in the west.

Victory for Louis was worth about $45,000 for his bulging ring earnings. Loss to Roper meant $10,000—probably 10 times the amount he had ever received from more prolonged matches in his long fighting career.

Tie for Golf Lead

In the first round of the annual Maynard Cup handicap competition at the Gorge Vale Golf Club on Sunday, Harold Shepherd and Alan Riches tied for first place with net scores of 72. Second round of the 36-hole medal event will be played later in the season.

WRESTLING

Paris-Felix Miquet, France, defeated Yvon Robert, Montreal, two falls to one (weights unavailable).

Wilmington, Del.—Jim London, 200, Greece, threw Maurice La Chappelle, 193, France, 33.02. (La Chappelle unable to return for second fall.)

New Haven, Conn.—Steve (Crusher) Casey, 224, Ireland, won over Chief Chewacki, 235, Oklahoma. (Chewacki disqualified on second fall.)

Camden, N.J.—John (Dropkick) Murphy, 207, Boston, won over the Golden Terror, 303. (Terror disqualified on third fall after first two split.)

BOXING

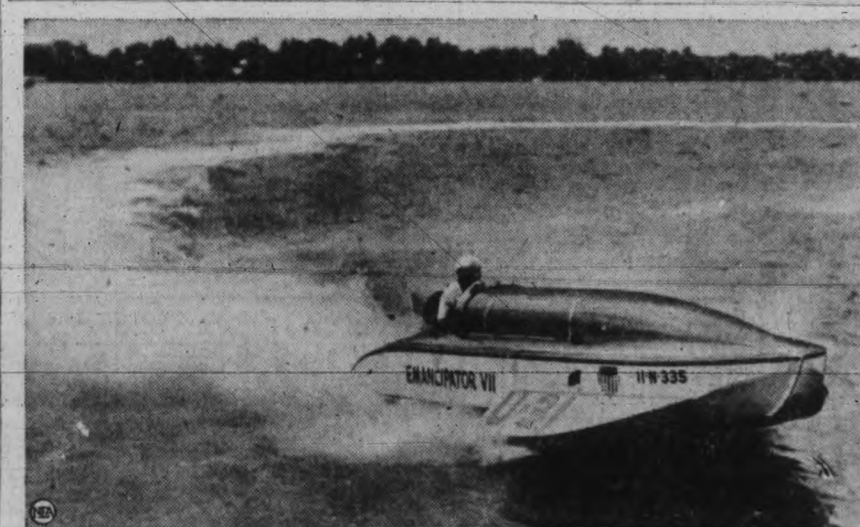

Houston, Texas—Fred Apostoli, 162, San Francisco, recognized as middleweight champion in New York and California, knocked out George Nichols, 165, Sandusky, Ohio, two.

London—Mickey McGuire, 149, Paynton, Sask., knocked out Johnston Hughes, 148, Worrning, England, nine.

New Orleans—Jimmy Perrin, 124, New Orleans, outpointed Johnny Gaudes, 121, St. Boniface, Man., ten.

Chicago—George Nyberg, 149, Port Arthur, Ont., outpointed Dean Baker, 143, Kalamazoo, Mich., four; Meyer Alper, 140, Montreal, stopped Billy Reardon, 140, Chicago, four.

Auerbach, Atlantic City and Miami sportsman, set marks for 24 miles, one hour and three hours in the four-litre class, and 24 miles and one hour in the unlimited class.

Music Festival Opens

Four Halls Kept Busy During Morning; Formal Opening Tonight

Victoria's 13th annual Musical Festival got under way this morning with different sections occupying four halls. The formal opening will not be until this evening, when Mayor Andrew McGavin speaks in First United Church.

The vocal, choral and instrumental classes will continue until Saturday night. The education section will conclude tomorrow afternoon. Folk dancing this year has been separated from the rest of the festival and will not be judged until Friday and Saturday of next week.

George Dodds, senior member of the team of three British adjudicators, explained the purpose of the judges at the start of the vocal classes in First United Church this morning:

"We come not as critics but as friends; not to pick holes in your work but to send you away happy."

VOCAL CLASSES JUDGED

Mr. Dodds judged two junior classes for vocal soloists accompanied by pianists in the same age group, and three of the grade B vocal solo classes.

Dorothy Demorest took first place in the class for mezzo-sopranos, grade B, with a mark of 84 for her singing of her own selection, "The Cloths of Heaven," by Dunhill. May Moore, who chose Quilter's "Now Sleeps the Crimstone Petal," was second with 81.

Miss Demorest was praised by the adjudicator for her charming voice and the pleasant rhythm of her performance. The song was well suited to her voice, Mr. Dodds said. Earlier, in his general comment on the class, he had warned against choosing pieces out of the range of the singer's ability.

Shelah McLaughlin, only entrant in the grade B contralto class, was awarded 80 marks for her singing of "I'm a Wanderer." She had a great gift of voice, said the adjudicator, but her tone lacked freedom.

Sydney James Roberts took first place in the grade B tenor class with 82 marks. John W. Bell was second with 80.

Mr. Dodds commented he liked the feel of Mr. Roberts' rendering of "Now Sleeps the Crimstone Petal." In his general remarks he warned against "whiteness" of tone.

John Kirchner, accompanied by Joy Kirchner, was first in the class for vocal solos by boys between 11 and 16, accompanied by boys or girls, with 83 marks. They were commended for their good team work in Rowley's "Brown Owl." Peter Underwood and John Beckwith placed second with 82.

GIRL WINS HIGH MARK

Enid Middleton, accompanied by Joyce Morrish, took the highest marks awarded by Mr. Dodds during the morning—85—for her singing of Schubert's "Cradle Song," and was praised by the adjudicator for a voice of good quality and remarkable resonance for so small a singer. Both were commended for their balance.

Two teams, Miriam Goodwin and Joy Kirchner and Adele Dunsmore and Mary Rogers tied for second place with 84 marks each.

Four children's vocal classes were judged in First United Church by Dr. Frederic Staton.

Keith Littler and Bernice Chisholm, only entry in the class for vocal solo by a boy under 12 accompanied by a boy or girl of the same age group, were awarded the excellent mark of 87 for their performance of Rowley's "A Frosty Morning."

The singer was praised for the rhythmic life of his performance and his excellent sense of tonal values.

Marie Vowles and Dorothy Craig were first in the class for duets by children between 11 and 16, with 84 marks. Hilda Kyle and Freda Natrass came a single point behind. The test piece was Schumann's "To a Nightingale."

Dr. Staton commented on the eagerness and well-contrasted tones of the winning duet.

Betty Russell and Stephen Michaud were first in the corresponding class for children under 12 with 82 marks for their singing of the two-part canon "Down in a Green and Shady Bed," and Keith Littler and Margaret Angus placed second with 80.

The winners were commended for their tempo and Dr. Staton said the boy had the best notes of any singer in the class. He called the performance very convincing.

In both the duet classes Dr. Staton called all the competitors up to the platform and went over the test pieces with them point by point.

Betty Dempsey, accompanied by Marguerite Hancock, was first in the class for girl vocal soloists under 13, accompanied by boys or girls of the same age, with 83 marks. There was a tie for second place between Shirley Cunn—Bernard Hick and Eva Stuart—Douglas Main, with 82. Dr. Staton noted wrong intonation and flat singing in many of the performances in the group. He said Bernard Hick was far the outstanding pianist in the class. The winners were commended for their good tonal quality.

PIANO CLASSES

Three piano solo classes and one duet class were adjudicated in First Baptist Church by Arthur Benjamin.

Theodore Gubbels placed first in the under eight years solo class with 84 marks for his performance of Leslie Fly's "Robin Hood and His Merry Men." Doreen Grace Collier was second with 82.

Remarkable he was very pleased with the standards of this beginners' class. Mr. Benjamin himself played the test piece and made the competitors play the roll of adjudicators, picking out deliberate mistakes in his playing.

Norman Bissenden and Irene Hemming were awarded first place and 163 marks in the grade 1 piano duet class, in which the test pieces were two of Markham Lee's "Tunes for Two Players." Their teamwork was excellent and their gradations were good, Mr. Benjamin said.

Margaret Wood and Vernon Taylor were second with 161. Marie Louise Vowles, winner of the grade 3 girls' solo class, was commended by Mr. Benjamin for her feeling for the keyboard, her good rhythm and her initiative in gradations. She was awarded 168 marks for her playing of Grieg's Valse in A Major and "Maid Charming" by Bainbridge.

Francis Vle placed first in the equivalent boys' class with 162 marks, and Michael McCall with 161. The test pieces were "Marche Chevaleresque" and "Barcarolle," both by Burgmüller. The winner was praised for the good shaping of his phrases and the tone of his playing.

Plans Made for Alaska Highway Commission Meeting Here

Arrangements for the meeting of the Canadian commission on the British Columbia-Alaska Highway project were made here today by Premier Pattullo.

The commission, which will meet here April 27 for organizational purposes, will be given the use of the Liberal members' room at the Legislative Buildings for its conferences.

The Premier, who has been Canada's foremost advocate of the road in the last two years, will consult with the commission and submit his views on the project.

At the present the only documented material on the project available here is the report prepared by a commission in 1932, estimating costs for a route leading from Hazelton. An alternate route from Hazelton and a new route by back of Finlay Forks has since been suggested.

The Premier said today a vote of $25,000 made by the Legislature last fall for preliminary surveys may be used for a flight over the area to give engineers a general idea of the country through which the highway would run.

After the Canadian commission makes its plans here, arrangements may be made for a meeting with the American commission so that the efforts of the two may be co-ordinated.

Members of the Canadian group who will meet here under Hon. Charles Stewart, the chairman, are: J. W. Spencer and Arthur Dixon, deputy Minister of Public Works of Victoria; J. M. Wardle, superintendent of federal parks, and Brigadier-General T. L. Tremblay of Quebec.

Victoria would be given one of the medical instruments used in curing infantile paralysis.

Court Considers Fuel Report

Admissibility of Another Volume Point in Gasoline Price Appeal

Admissibility of volume three of the Macdonald Fuel and Petroleum Products report was discussed in the Appeal Court this afternoon as the appeal proceeded against Mr. Justice Manson's ruling rejecting British Columbia's gas price-fixing legislation.

The third volume of the report was ruled out by Mr. Justice Manson at the Supreme Court trial and in the Appeal Court yesterday it was argued if any of the report was admitted the whole should have been.

At the completion of his other points at 12:40 today, the court asked Mr. Wismer if he wished the document to go in.

Mr. Wismer said if the volume would be necessary on the grounds he had given insufficient study to the third volume, a document interrelated with the admitted first and second volumes of the report. The book is 500 pages long.

Prior to that turn in the case, Mr. Wismer had completed other points in support of the appeal and closed with the contention he had proved the act within the jurisdiction of the province.

The provincial government sought only to regulate the activities of companies within British Columbia, not to control the parent groups in California and elsewhere, he said.

He devoted some attention to the companies' claims they had lost money in British Columbia during 1937, noting their reported losses occurred in a year when they had greatly increased their appropriations for depreciation. The net loss, he said, was far below the profits made in preceding years.

Mr. Wismer submitted evidence of Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the control board, should not have been admitted in the court below and should not have colored the trial judge's opinion, since orders of the board had been rescinded and nothing but the "bare bones of the statute" were standing following the 1938 amending legislation.

Turning to the position of integrated companies, he noted most of the stock in the majority of B.C. concerns was held in California or elsewhere. That did not relieve the companies of the responsibilities of observing regulations by British Columbia statutes. Otherwise, he contended, the province would have no control over any business, since groceries or other groups could become integrated companies with a claim for such exemption from control under provincial laws. In that event the province would lose its autonomy and be governed, in respect to business, by remote control from outside sources.

"This is a purely local and private matter," he said, stating the regulation of trade and commerce as sought through the act was such as to be completely within the province's jurisdiction.

Individual forms of trade and commerce with the province became a question of property and civil rights beyond the jurisdiction of the federal government, he submitted.

Mr. Wismer cited the clauses of the B.C. Marketing Act to support his points, and quoted the Shannon case to the effect that control within the province itself was a sovereign right of the province.

He sought to refute the respondents' claim that the Marketing Act was "purely a piece of legislation for the benefit of the producers. Mr. Wismer said that act was designed for the benefit of the producers and consumer, and was on all fours with the act now under test.

Mr. Wismer contended there was no justification for the trial judge's contention the act aimed indirectly at aiding the coal industry by actions that would raise the price of fuel oil.

If such a result arose, that would not be the purpose or intent of the act, but an incidental feature of its application.

Referring to prohibition legislation on the liquor question—a matter placed directly within the jurisdiction of the province—Mr. Wismer stated the incidental result, preventing importation of liquor, was far graver than the subject of complaint in the case at bar.

Senator Farris prepared to open the respondents' case when the court called for Mr. Wismer's decision on whether or not he wanted the third volume of the Macdonald report admitted.

The sum of $462.36 was collected for the British Imperial Comrades Association tag day Saturday.

The Royal Visit

Air Escort Across Gulf

Canadian Air Force Planes to Accompany Their Majesties' Ship

Air escorts from the Royal Canadian Air Force will be furnished the King and Queen on their arrival in Canadian waters, and at various points throughout Canada, it was announced in Ottawa.

An escort will be provided between Vancouver and Victoria on May 29, during the passage of the King and Queen between these points, and again on return May 31.

After announcement of the official program last week, the government's committee on the Royal reception is rapidly rounding out the details of arrangements. Victoria's proposals for a change in procession plans will be forwarded to Ottawa for consideration, although it is understood they are not likely to be accepted. The changes do not fit in so well with the time schedule laid down, it is indicated.

Late changes in the guest list for the official government luncheon, and in the menu, are being made, and it was stated this morning the details of these will be announced only when they have been finally completed.

BROADCASTS ARRANGED

The voices of the King and Queen will be broadcast by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation on six occasions during the Royal Visit beginning next month, officials announced in Ottawa.

The first time His Majesty will speak to Canadians from their own soil will be the day of his arrival at Quebec May 15 aboard H.M.S. Repulse. Shortly after disembarking, the King will speak at a welcoming luncheon.

His Majesty will send his voice over the radio again from Ottawa May 18 when he officiates at unveiling of the national war memorial. The Queen's address at the laying of the cornerstone of the new Supreme Court building at Ottawa May 19 will also be broadcast.

The main address the King will deliver on the tour will be his message to the entire British Empire through CBC facilities from Winnipeg on Empire Day, May 24. There will be another broadcast from western Canada at Victoria, and the final broadcast will be His Majesty's farewell to Canada at Halifax June 15.

Lords Elgin, Durham, Lisgar, Lansdowne, Minto, the Marquis of Lorne, Dufferin, the Duke of Connaught, Devonshire, Willingdon, Bessborough—all have their place in this gallery of brilliant contributors who have made their contribution to Canadian life and Canadian achievement.

MARCH WAS ACTIVE MONTH AT Y.M.C.A.

Board of Directors Hear Reports of Bigger Membership in Classes

The board of directors of the Y.M.C.A. at their regular luncheon meeting yesterday heard satisfactory reports from the several departments, with an increase in attendance and activities of the physical department.

The physical report submitted by W. T. Straith showed that during March a total of 272 sessions were held with an attendance of 3,668. In March of last year 210 sessions were held and the year before there were 202 sessions.

The report said that several activities had stopped for the season and that the summer program was getting under way. A big month during April was expected.

The boys' division report showed that there were 68 swim and gym sessions for boys held during March, with an attendance total of 1,198. March, 1938, saw 58 sessions with 1,103 in attendance.

Boys' club meetings were 56, with 520 attendances, compared with the last year's figures of 55 sessions and 504 attendances. S. J. D. Clark gave the report.

An extensive report on the activities of the "Y" Camera Club was submitted showing an exceptionally active branch of the association. The social and education committee report by Dr. T. W. A. Gray was satisfactory, as was J. O. Cameron's financial statement.

Warren W. Martin reported on the circus committee and Mr. Straith gave a report on the "Y" camp.

H. B. Witter, president, was in the chair.

Acquitted On Cheque Charge

Robert Golby was acquitted by Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court today of a charge of illegal use of a forged cheque on the grounds the evidence against him was insufficient to merit a conviction.

The charge was laid following activities of the accused with Frederick Jones, who was sentenced to six months on charges of obtaining money by false pretences through the use of worthless cheques.

"I cannot convict him on this evidence," Judge Shandley stated. He thought the accused and Jones knew all about the cheques, but there was a doubt to which the accused was entitled, he said.

Tankers Tied Up By Strike

Atlantic and Gulf Ports Affected as 5,000 Men Called Out

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Maritime Union of the Congress of Industrial Organizations today said a strike called last night as a result of the collapse of negotiations between the union and four oil companies had tied up oil tankers all along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

Nearly 5,000 crew members aboard 136 tankers were called out and union officials said 25 tankers were tied up at New York, and others were being halted as they docked here and elsewhere.

The companies involved and the number of tankers each operates: Standard Oil of New Jersey, 78; Sococo-Vacuum, 35; Tidewater Oil, 12; and the C. D. Mallory Company, eight.

The union withheld strike action against the Pennsylvania Shipping Company which operates 18 tankers and the Gulf Refining Company, which operates 32 tankers after the companies agreed late last night to the union's demand for a preferential hiring hall.

STEVEDORES ASK HIGHER WAGES

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The recent convention of Pacific coast longshoremen voted to ask higher wages with improved working conditions, Harry Bridges, West Coast Congress for Industrial Organization director and longshoremen's leader, disclosed today.

Bridges said a plan was being considered under which longshoremen would not seek to change the present contract until the spring of 1940, in order to avert any possible major dispute until after the end of the Golden Gate Exposition.

The convention action, to be effective, must be approved by the 13,000 longshoremen in a referendum. The principal demands longshoremen were considering, Bridges said, were for a six-hour day, a recognition of their right to refuse to pass picket lines of "sister unions," and a voice in the introduction of labor-saving devices on the waterfront. Present waterfront agreements expire September 30. Either side, by proper notification, can reopen them for negotiations.

H.M.S. Orion to Visit Esquimalt

British Warship Is Expected in June On Annual Patrol

H.M.S. Orion, one of the British battlecruisers attached to the American and West Indies squadron, is expected to visit Victoria this summer. Each year a vessel of the British fleet at Bermuda is sent to this coast on patrol, and the Orion is reported to have been selected for this year's cruise.

Last summer the flagship H.M.S. York was here.

The Orion is looked for here early in June. It is not expected that she will arrive in time for the Royal Visit at the end of May. The naval authorities have been nothing official on her movements.

After calling here the Orion will pay a four-day visit to Nanaimo June 12, and she is also scheduled to go to Vancouver.

Canada's four destroyers, H.M. C.S. Ottawa, Fraser, St. Laurent and Restigouche, are now en route back to Esquimalt from the West Indies and should arrive during the latter part of this month.

SAILOR WARRIOR TO SETTLE DOWN

Capt. P. Tayleur, Nova Scotia Master, Looks to Hills

NEW YORK (CP) — Old salt of the seven seas, veteran of a couple of wars and 1,000 private adventures, Capt. Patrick Tayleur, 83, a native of Maitland, N.S., is settling down here to an interlude of tranquility.

The old sea-dog, who first shipped out of Boston as a deck hand at the age of 13, arrived in Manhattan recently after "hoofing it" from San Francisco. He immediately found a land berth at the Catholic Youth Center here, doing what he likes most — teaching boys to fashion ship models out of hunks of wood.

"That last adventure of mine and the trip across the continent kinda tired me out a bit, but the world is still my oyster and I'll be off again soon," he said, refuting the suggestion he might be settling down. "I'm not going to die in any institution. I think I'll just go up the mountains when my time comes."

The Captain's first berth was aboard the three-masted packet, El Capitán, outward bound from Boston for Shanghai. In 1881 he received his master's papers, and took command of the Luzon sailing out of Halifax.

Were the old days before the mast as tough as they were supposed to be? "Well, they were tough. I'd say it's better for the seamen today and tougher for the master," said the captain.

"Once I had to quell a mutiny on the British ship Australasia when the negro crew went haywire from imagined threats of the sea."

"Those were difficult days. Why, I've seen 89 ships lying in harbor in Australia without a master or man for any of them. They all just quit the ships and headed for the gold strikes," Tayleur said.

When the Boer war started in South Africa the captain was in the police in Rhodesia, and he acted as a scout in the subsequent fighting. He came out of the war a sergeant and because of the war he was able to enlist in the Canadian army in the war, although over age.

Captain Tayleur served as Lord Allenby's orderly in Palestine and won a Distinguished Conduct Medal in France.

He said it took him 33 weeks to walk from Frisco to Florida, sleeping out, cooking his own food most of the time, and never accepting rides. He laughs at the suggestion he is too old for such strenuous exercise.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP) — An export business in Canadian wheat estimated around 750,000 bushels at Winnipeg futures prices steady at Winnipeg as traders displayed a cautious attitude due to the continued uncertainty regarding European political conditions. Final quotations were unchanged, May at 60 1/2, July 61 1/2 and October 62 1/2.

Operations were at a minimum as both buyers and sellers remained on the sidelines. Export sales were worked from both Atlantic and Pacific seaboard.

Liverpool finished unchanged to 1/2 up. Chicago and Buenos Aires registered little change.

Yesterday's country marketings totaled 141,000 bushels, against 186,000 for the same day a year ago.

Minor interest appeared in barley and oats. Cash wheat traders made fair purchases of No. 3 northern and durum to be worked from lakehead ports at the opening of navigation.
